INTRODUCTION

The surname of Ludlum has been in American records since early in the 1600's. Many researchers have traced this line back to England. There are many records available in the United States on this family.

THE QUEST

Every summer, the Ludlum clan living in and around Berrien County, MI held a family reunion. Shortly after my marriage to George Wooley, we began attending the reunions. But as often happens, the attendance fell off and soon members of the family lost interest and so no reunions have been held for many years.

But it was at one of these gatherings that someone read a history of the Ludlum family. I did not pay much attention and so years later, could not remember who had the history or exactly what it said. Then I started tracing the line.

THE SEARCH

I questioned many members of the immediate family to try to find out who had the history and where it might be. No success. Then I remembered that some of the Ludlums had come from the Fort Wayne, IN area. I obtained names and addresses from a friendly telephone operator and began writing letters.

RESULTS!

Someone in Fort Wayne who received one of my letters gave it to Jackson L. Ludlum and he wrote to me immediately. He told me that there was in existance an extensive history of the Ludlam family and that it was in the possession of Florence (Flossie) Walsh and that she would be willing to share it. She also lived in Fort Wayne.

THE REQUEST

I phoned Mrs. Walsh. She graciously invited us to visit her and she would let us examine the document she had in her possession. We made an appointment with her and took off for Fort Wayne.

THE TREASURE

We had never met Mrs. Walsh before. After introductions, she produced the much sought-after document. To our surprise, it was a rolled up, handwritten manuscript. To our dismay, it was evident that it was a copy of the original. After explaining to her how difficult it was to read, Mrs. Walsh told us that the original was kept in her safety deposit box at the bank. She then left us in her home and drove to the bank to retrieve the original.

DESCRIPTION OF DOCUMENT

What Mrs. Walsh brought back from the bank was a continuous roll of blueprint paper, handwirten in white ink. The document is 15 inches wide by 40 feet long! It begins with an introduction by the author and then lists the first generation of Ludlums in America and goes through twelve generations, all numbered so that you can trace families. The author was Uylsses Lincoln Monce.

At the time Mr. Monce did this work, his method of recording all this information was probably the best means at his disposal. However, Mrs. Walsh and I both felt that this record was such a treasury of information that it belonged in a library. We took it to the Allen County Library in Fort Wayne and were told that although they would like to have it in their collection, they could not handle it in the form it was in.

THE TRANSCRIPTION

After doing some serious thinking, decided that it would only take a few days to retype the information so it could be put into book form. I asked Mrs. Walsh if I could borrow the copy so this could be done. She agreed. Then I decided that since a computer was available and the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has such a wonderful computer program available, I would enter this information into the computer.

THE TASK

After getting started in transcribing the material into the computer, I had contact with other people interested in this family. Through much correspondence, I asked them to supply their family charts to correct any errors in Monce´s listing and to bring it up to the current date.

At the same time, I found that I had other material which would enhance the information already on the list and decided to make the finished product as perfectly correct and up-to-date as possible.

What started out as a simple, recopying job has turned itself into a monumental project taking several years. It has become a labor of love. Should there be any monetary gains, it will go toward the cost of supplies used and the cost of publishing. This project was not done for any other reward than to make the information on this list available for others to use. It is my sincere hope that other researchers will find it of much value, correct any errors and add their information to it.

DISCLAIMER

Although many of the persons on this listing are deceased, many others, especially in the last few generations, are not. Those persons whom I asked to furnish current family charts did so knowing their information would be incorporated into this listing.

For those of you who might object to being included in this family listing, I can only say that I could not ask permission of everyone to use their name. However, take heart in the fact that you come from a great heritage and be proud that these stalwart pioneers helped you get where you are today.

CONTRIBUTORS

Many people have provided material for this research and so I´m listing them. I´m certain they would be willing provide information about their families if they are contacted.

WATY (LUDLUM) DANIELS

Grandmother Waty (Ludlum) Daniels was very proud of her Ludlum family and tried to keep a reunion going each year. Although she did not give many details, she did leave a handwritten listing of her brothers and sisters, their children and grandchildren. Information on our own direct line is from her diaries and personal knowledge.

LUDLUM REUNION BOOK

For many years, the Ludlum family would gather for a reunion, often in southwest Michigan. A brief write-up of each reunion was kept in a notebook as to the number of those in attendance but not much else was recorded. However, someone did type a family group sheet and some of the material herein is from that listing.

EXPLANATION OF NUMBERING SYSTEM

Mr. Monce, the original compiler of this listing, used a simple and very easy-to-follow numbering system. One can identify parent and children very easily. The transcriber has attempted to continue this numbering system with a few exceptions and additions that were necessary as other persons were added.

First of all, to keep track of persons entered in the Personal Ancestral File (PAF), a Record Identification Number (RIN) was automatically assigned by the computer to each individual. This number can be ignored by researchers as it only pertains to the records in my computer and helps to locate someone in order to make corrections to a file. A high or low number is of no significance.

Mr. Monce used a numbering identification system as follows:

> If a parent was of the 7th generation, then his ID number would be 7- followed by another number. The children in the 8th generation would all have the number 8- before their names but would have the parent´s ID number (in this case 7-) following their names.
> EXAMPLE;
> 9-121 Waty Ludlum (following her name 8-54)
> Going back on the list, one would find that 8-54 was her father, Smith Ludlum. All his children have 8-54 following their names. Behind Smith Ludlum´s name is 7-14 indicating he is son of 7-14 Hamilton Ludlum, etc.

To maintain exactly the names on the Monce list, a hyphen (-) is used in the ID number. To identify additions to the list, a slash (/) is used. Therefore, any ID numbers containing a slash (/) were not included on Monce´s orignal list.

To identify spouses, the original ID number assigned by Monce was used and an "A" added for the first marriage; a "B" for a second marriage and a "C" for third marriages.

Most of the time, the numbering sequence is in order but there are a few exceptions and these are noted.

MISTAKES AND ERRORS

There are many mistakes and errors in this collection. First of all, the document used by the transcriber was a copy of the original document. At the time Mr. Monce prepared this record, he did not know it would not photocopy. In fact, photocopiers probably hadn´t been invented yet! Mrs. Walsh had this copy made by an industrial firm who makes copies of blueprints. It did not copy well.

Mr. Monce used beautiful penmanship -- most of the time. However, often he did not even make capital letters in the same style. When it was difficult to read or where names were uncommon or unfamiliar to the transcriber, the hard-to-read document was studied with magnifiers and other sources were used to try and determine the correct spelling of a name. The transcriber apologizes if your name or that of an ancestor is spelled incorrectly.

CREDITS

Unless otherwise identified, all the information contained in this record is the work of Mr. Monce. If anything else has been added, the transcriber has tried to give proper credit to the supplier. Again, apologies for any credit not properly given. The intent of this project is to get the valuable information it contains out to those who need it to help them complete their family research.

Mrs. Eva M. Farrell of Dodge City, KS has done extensive research on the Ludlum line and her data can be found in the LDS Family History Centers on film #1320590. In a few instances, her data was used over that of Mr. Monce as she does list all her sources and documentation whereas Mr. Monce does not.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

The Personal Ancesteral File (PAF) software program designed by the Church of Latter Day Saints has been used entirely in transcribing this work except for the word processing pages preceeding Mr. Monce´s research. Although the PAF does a superb job of registering and managing all this data, there were some things which could not be done. One of these was a list of people by I.D. numbers only without R.I.N. numbers.

As with most tasks, what seemed like just a few days of typing has ended up with almost three years of constant effort on this line. Because a computer and this technology was available, it seemed to be the best possible way to transcribe and preserve Mr. Monce´s records. And because the transcriber is a perfectionist, it seemed important to include in this record all information available on the Ludlam/Ludlum/Ludlow lines that could be found.

In all instances, counties have been included for each city or town. Some are unavailable. None was located for Camp Parole, MD and Hog Island has finally been assigned to the state of New York. Because part of Essex County, New Jersey became Union County in 1857, this county entry has become "Essex/Union."

The following is the only typewritten portion of the Monce listing and was copied by the transcriber exactly as written. It appears at the beginning of the handwritten listing.

LUDLUM GENEALOGY
compiled by Ulysses Lincoln Monce
HISTORICAL

In July 1648, WILLIAM LUDLAM, wife CLEMENCE FORDHAM, sons WILLIAM, HENRY, JOSEPH, ANTHONY, brother ANTHONY and sister GRACE landed in Boston from the "Good Ship Traill." They came from Matlock, Derbyshire, England. In 1653 they were on the roster at Southampton, L.I. Here WILLIAM bought a water-powered mill which descended by will through four generations as did also his Great Bible. WILLIAM died in 1667; his will dated 1665-4-27 is will #1, Book One, in the New York Surrogate´s Office. WILLIAM fell heir to an estate in England and directed his oldest son, WILLIAM, to press the claim but WILLIAM II was in failing health and died at about the time his Father died. In 1701 WILLIAM II´s oldest son, JOHN, retained an attorney to press his claim to his grandfather´s estate under the law of primogeniture. The attorney took the case for 1/8 of the estate which must have been considerable to justify crossing the ocean in those times. JOHN´S subsequent prosperity seems to indicate that he won the case. (N.Y. Historical Society Records.)

WILLIAM II sent his sons, JOHN, WILLIAM and JOSEPH to school and the teacher wrote the name LUDLUM and that spelling ´stuck.´ All the LUDLUMS in America doubtless descend from WILLIAM II. The descendants of WILLIAM I´S sons HENRY and ANTHONY have changed the name fo LUDLOW. "Brother" ANTHONY´S descendants are LUDLAM -- his son founded Cape May, N.J. WILLIAM II´S wife ELIZABETH COLE (or COE) after his death married NEHEMIAH SMITH and her son married NEHEMIAH SMITH´S daughter -- quite a mix-up. ELIZABETH deeded real estate to each of her sons and they bought more. They all lived at Jamaica L.I. JOHN´S descendants are well known but WILLIAM III and JOSEPH left no wills naming their children.

There are seven LUDLUMS of the next generation who moved from Jamaica, L.I. viz: WILLIAM and ISAAC who went to Goshen, N.Y. and are still LUDLUMS; SAMUEL and ABRAHAM to Morristown, N.J. are LUDLOWS; JOSEPH, CORNELIUS and OBADIAH to Westfield, N.J.; CORNELIUS´ descendants are LUDLUMS; JOSEPH´S are LUDLOWS and OBADIAH´S are mixed as I shall now explain. OBADIAH had a daughter SARAH and a son OBADIAH, JR. OBADIAH, JR. had five sons. He and four of his sons decided to change the name to LUDLOW; his son SMITH refused and in anger moved to what was then the Far West. He settled in Ohio on or before 1800 near the hamlet of Hopkinsville, Warren County and in 1809 he bought 74 acres for $220. He was my great-grandfather.

Page 1.—WILLIAM LUDLAM, Southampton. Leaves to his son Anthony "all my housing and lands at the old ground, [illegible] of commonage, in the town of Southampton." Leaves [illegible] "my new dwelling-house with two acres of land adjoining, and thirty acres of [illegible] to the mill and mill pond, on the east side of the mill river; and a £50 right of commonage. Leaves legacies to daughters, Grace, Frances, and Mary, also to "eldest child of my son William, [illegible] "my daughter [illegible]" of my daughter [illegible] between me and Samuel [illegible] Makes his son Henry executor, and he is to build up the mill, and he is to have half the mill, and his brother Joseph the other half. Also leaves to Henry thirty-six acres of land at the head of the mill pond.

Dated April ye 27, 1665. Witnesses, John Howell, John Cooper. Proved at the Court of Assizes, November 2, 1667.

[NOTE.—William Ludlam came from Matlock, in Derbyshire, Eng., and was in Southampton as early as 1653. His eldest son, William, went to Huntington, L. I., and died there in 1668.—W. S. P.]

From the above you can see that I have been unable to determine which, WILLIAM or JOSEPH is the father of OBADIAH; it must be one of them as they are the only LUDLUMS other than JOHN. As WILLIAM III and JOSEPH died intestate their estate would be settled by the Court of Jamaica, L.I. where they lived and the names of their heirs would appear in these records. I have recently leanred that when Jamaica became a part of N.Y. City, its court records were transferred to the State House at Albany. I´m too near the end of life (83 in 1946) to make this investigation and I pass it on to one of my descendants to clear up this cloud in our line of descent. When he does it is my parting wish that so far as possible he pass along the information to my known descendants.

This study has been a labor of love on which I have expended much time and labor and from which I have received not a penny. I dedicate it to the memory of my revered Nother who was born RECECCA LUDLUM.

(signed) Ulysses Lincoln Monce of the Ninth Generation in America

The following was handwritten at the bottom of the above introduction:

"This is not an attempt at a complete genealogy of the descendants of William Ludlam. In the main it concerns the descendants of Obadiah Ludlum of the fourth generation; however, one line from Henry the second, son of William the immigrant, is carried through mainly bcause they were pioneer settlers of Cincinnati. This is the only line (1946) beyond the 12th generation in America."

LUDLAM - March 21, 1701-2: JOHN LUDLAM, of Jamaica, L.I., Yeoman, appointed Thomas CARDALE, of same place, Gentleman, his attorney to recover an estate in Matlock, Derbyshire, England, which had descended to him--LUDLAM. The instrument was executed in presence of five witnesses: Joseph SMITH, Justice, Robert REED, Edward HARE, Thomas JEFFERS, and Joseph SMITH, Junior, and was acknowledged April 8, 1702, before Daniel WHITEHEAD, Justice. April 10, 1702, LUDLAM gave CARDALE his bond in the penalty of L500, to confirm all actions CARDALE might commence on account of any lands, etc., in Derbyshire, and to allow CARDALE one-eighth part of the "trew vallou" of any recovery. To support his claims, LUDLAM provided CARDALE with evidence of which the following is an abstract:

1. Certificate of John COE and Nicholas EVERET, Justices, that Samuel EDSALL, one of His Majesties Justices, etc., had deposed before them on oath, December 20, 1701, that he came out of England with WILLIAM, the son of WILLIAM and CLEMENCE LUDLAM; that he knew that JOHN LUDLAM of Jamaica, was ever accounted to be the true and lawful son and heir of said WILLIAM and ELIZABETH, his wife; and he at same time declared before the Justices that WILLIAM LUDLAM and his sister GRACE came out in May, landed at Boston in July 1648, with John GRAVES, Master of the "Triall" and that WILLIAM LUDLAM was aged about twenty years. Also, that Johannah COE had declared before them on her oath that she was with ELIZABETH, mother of JOHN LUDLAM, at or near the time of his birth, and that he was the eldest son of WILLIAM and ELIZABETH LUDLAM.

2. Certificate of Joseph SMITH and Daniel WHITEHEAD, Justices, that ELIZABETH, relict of WILLIAM LUDLAM, the son of WILLIAM and CLEMENCE his wife, late of Matlock, in the county of Derby, in old England, Yeoman, had deposed March 10, 1701/2, that she, was married to WILLIAM, son and heir of WILLIAM and CLEMENCE LUDLAM, late of Matlock, by Captain TAPPIN, Magistrate of Southampton; that JOHN LUDLAM is the true and lawful son and heir of said WILLIAM, that her father-in-law did oft in his life-time press upon his son WILLIAM (the deponent´s husband) to return for England and see after an estate which, he said, was his proper right, lying in Matlock and that her husband did design to have gone to England accordingly, but was prevented by death--her husband dying within two years after the death of his father, etc.

3. Isaac HALSEY and Elizabeth HOWELL certify March 18 1701-2, that they were at the marriage of WILLIAM LUDLAM, late of Matlock and ELIZABETH, his wife; they were lawfully married according to the Kumn laws and custom of Southampton, by Captain John TAPPIN, magistrate of that place, "we being all present at ye publick solemnity of ye marriage." [They do not make oath thereto because there is "no person in town qualified to give us our oaths," but solemnly declare that JOHN´S parents were married near fifty years ago, according to the then and present custom of this place.]

4. Certificate of John WICKS and John WOOD, Justices, that Thomas WICKS and Robert CRAUFIELD, both of Huntington, Long Island, yeomen, had deposed before them March 20, 1701-2, that they were intimately acquainted with WILLIAM LUDLAM, who died and was buried at Huntington "above thirty years agoe," both old England men; that WILLIAM who dyed at Huntington was ever owned to be the eldest son and lawful heir of WILLIAM, of Southampton, and that JOHN LUDLAM, of Jamaica, is the lawful heir of WILLIAM LUDLAM, JUNIOR.

April 10, 1702, Ludlam gave Cardale his bond in the penalty of £500, to confirm all actions Cardale might commence on account of any lands, etc., in Derbyshire, and to allow Cardale one-eighth part of the "trew vallou" of any recovery. To support his claims, Ludlam provided Cardale with evidence of which the following is an abstract:

NY G&B Vol. 15 p. 93

1. Certificate of John Coe and Nicholas Everet, Justices, that Samuel Edsall, one of His Majesties Justices, etc., had deposed before them on oath, December 20, 1701, that he came out of England with William, the son of William and Clemence Ludlam; that he knew that John Ludlam, of Jamaica, was ever accounted to be the true and lawful son and heir of said William and Elizabeth, his wife; and he at same time declared before the Justices that William Ludlam and his sister Grace came out in May, landed at Boston in July, 1648, with John Graves, Master of the "Triall," and that William Ludlam was aged about twenty years. Also, that Johannah Coe had declared before them on her oath that she was with Elizabeth, mother of John Ludlam, at or near the time of his birth, and that he was the eldest son of William and Elizabeth Ludlam.

2. Certificate of Joseph Smith and Daniel Whitehead, Justices, that Elizabeth, relict of William Ludlam, the son of William and Clemence his wife, late of Matlock, in the county of Derby, in old England, Yeoman, had deposed March 10, 1701, that she was married to William, son and heir of William and Clemence Ludlam, late of Matlock, by Captain Tappin, Magistrate of Southampton; that John Ludlam is the true and lawful son and heir of said William, that her father-in-law did oft in his life-time press upon his son William (the deponent's husband) to return for England and see after an estate which, he said, was his proper right, lying in Matlock, and that her husband did design to have gone to England accordingly, but was prevented by death—her husband dying within two years after the death of his father, etc.

3. Isaac Halsey and Elizabeth Howell certify March 18, 1701–2, that they were at the marriage of William Ludlam, late of Matlock, and Elizabeth, his wife; they were lawfully married according to the Kumn laws and custom of Southampton, by Captain John Tappin, magistrate of that place, "we being all present at ye publick solemnity of ye marriage." [They do not make oath thereto because there is "no person in town qualified to give us our oaths," but solemnly declare that John's parents were married near fifty years ago, according to the then and present custom of this place.]

4. Certificate of John Wicks and John Wood, Justices, that Thomas Wicks and Robert Craufield, both of Huntington, Long Island, yeomen, had deposed before them March 20, 1701–2, that they were intimately acquainted with William Ludlam, who died and was buried at Huntington "above thirty years agoe;" that they knew his father William Ludlam, who died at Southampton; that they were both old England men; that William who dyed at Huntington was ever owned to be the eldest son and lawful heir of William, of Southampton, and that John Ludlam, of Jamaica, is the lawful heir of William Ludlam, Junior.

LUDLAM.—March 21, 1701–2, John Ludlam, of Jamaica, L. I., Yeoman, appointed Thomas Cardale, of same place, Gentleman, his attorney to recover an estate in Matlock, Derbyshire, England, which had descended to him—Ludlam. The instrument was executed in presence of five witnesses: Joseph Smith, Justice, Robert Reed, Edward Hare, Thomas Jeffers, and Joseph Smith, Junior, and was acknowledged April 8, 1702, before Daniel Whitehead, Justice. April 10, 1702, Ludlam gave Cardale his bond in the penalty of £500, to confirm all actions Cardale might commence on account of any lands, etc., in Derbyshire, and to allow Cardale one-eighth part of the "trew vallou" of any recovery. - EXPLANATION -

The reason for this listing is that due to the massive size of this research, the transcriber felt that in instances where no children were included on Monce´s listing or no children were known, a separate entry assigning RIN or I.D. numbers would make this record too large. If there is any information pertaining to the unnumbered spouse whose name appears in the left-hand columns, the reader can find it easily by referring to the RIN or I.D. numbers in the far right-hand columns and by referring to the alphabetical index.

Whoever takes up the said servant, and brings him to the subscriber, or secures him in any goal, so that his master may have him again, shall receive two dollars reward, and reasonable charges, paid by ISAAC REIGN.

Notice is hereby given, that the Subscribers intend to apply to the General Assembly of the Province of New-Jersey, at their next Sessions, for an Act to erect a Dam, and other Water-works, across the South Branch of Penshaukin Creek, at or near a place called the Poplar Landing, in the Township of Chester, County of Burlington.

December 17, 1774.
THOMAS MORTON,
SAMUEL RUDDAROW,
JOHN WILLIAMSON.

EIGHT DOLLARS REWARD.

Run away, on the 22d day of this instant, November, from the subscriber, living in Chesterfield township, Burlington county, West New-Jersey, an Irish servant lad, named Thomas Murphy, about 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high. . . . Whoever takes up said servant, and secured him in any goal, so that his master may get him again, shall have the above reward, and reasonable charges, paid by

JOSHUA BUNTING.

From the Pennsylvania Journal, No. 1674, Jan. 4, 1775.

TO BE SOLD,

A plantation in New-Jersey, Hunterdon county, in Lebanon township, containing 229 acres. There is about 140 acres cleared, known to be good land for wheat and other grain; . . . a never failing stream of water running throw the middle of the place, large enough for a grist-mill, fulling-mill, or saw-mill; . . . a large orchard on the said place, containing near five hundred apple trees of excellent fruit; with a good frame house with several rooms, and a stone kitchen adjoining the house; a good frame barn and out houses. For terms apply to the owner, living on the premises, who will give a good title for the same.

MORDECAI M'KINNEY.

BOSTON, Dec. 22.

Donations received, since our last. . . . From Joseph Ellis, Esq., Treasurer of the Committee of Correspondence of Gloucester county, in West-Jersey, for the hands of the Hon. Thomas Cushing, Esq., 534 Dollars.

TO BE SOLD,

A brick house and lot of land in the city of Burlington, pleasantly situated on the bank of the river Delaware, near to the town wharf, and is next door to James Kinsey, Esq.; extends to low water mark, and extends back to Wood street, with a good well and pump in the yard, near the kitchen, late the property of Mrs. Catherine Peirce, deceased; also an equal moiety or undivided half part of a tract of land, situate in the town of Cranbury, in the county of Middlesex, adjoining the mill pond, and lays along the stageroad leading to Amboy ferry. . . . Supposed to contain in the whole about four hundred acres. Inquire of Abraham Cottnam of Trenton, Attorney at Law, who will give a good title for the premises to the purchasers.

CAPE MAY, December 3, 1774.

This is to give notice that my wife, Phebe, has very much misbehaved herself, and not acted the part of a dutiful wife. I do forbid all persons trusting of her on my account, for I will not pay any debt of her contracting. ANTHONY LUDLAM.

Ran-away, on the 17th inst., at night, from the subscriber, living in Philadelphia, an Irish servant lad, named Edward Dumphy, about 19 years of age, a slim fellow, 5 feet 6 or 7 inches high, fair complexion. . . . Reward of three pounds, and reasonable charges, paid by PHEBE MORTON.

From the New York Journal, No. 1670, Jan. 5, 1775.

TO BE DISPOSED OF, AT ELIZABETH TOWN,

The time of a very likely English servant girl, who has two years and four months to serve. She is capable of any common domestic employment, understands her needle, and has some acquaintance with the mantua making business. W. P. SMITH.

WILLIAM LUDLAM OF SOUTHAMPTON, LONG ISLAND

By Conklin Mann, Esq., of New York City*

William Ludlam from Matlock, Derbyshire, England, was the founder of a Long Island family that in proportion to its numbers produced an unusually high percentage of "successful" men in the first four generations. We do not know when William Ludlam, his wife Clemence, and their younger children, came to America. We do know that the eldest son, William, and the eldest daughter, Grace, arrived in Boston in 1648. William Ludlam, Sr., first appears in the autumn of 1653 in Southampton, a miller with whom the town had recently made a contract. Savage does not mention his name. I am of the opinion that William Ludlam went to Southampton soon after his arrival in America. It is difficult to believe that a man of his standing and estate could have lived in New England or New Amsterdam for long and left no trace of his residence there.

At least three books on the Ludlam family were published between 1878 and 1897, but no comprehensive study of the early generations appears in any one of them,—or in all three collectively. In fact, much that was written seems merely to have added to that confusion in which such a high percentage of the genealogy of Eastern Long Island is involved.

The complete lack of early church records for Southampton is offset in studying the Ludlams by the fact that they were men of good estate and left a surprisingly high number of probates. While not active in local politics like the Howells and Peirsons of Southampton or the Conklings and Mulfords of East Hampton, they held good position. They were slave owners, purchasers of imported merchandise such as plate and textiles, and their wills and inventories indicate that they enjoyed a gracious plane of living for the period.

Henry^2 Ludlam, who succeeded his father as miller, lived at Watermill. That hamlet took its name from the mill, built by Edward Howell in 1644, which William^1 Ludlam took over. Henry Ludlam's descendants stayed mostly in that rather loosely described section called Mecox. Anthony^2 Ludlam, a weaver, also lived in Mecox, but his descendants appear to be associated more with Bridgehampton than those of Henry^2. James Truslow Adams in his History of Southampton (1918) writes that on the Mecox road west of Sagg Pond, the order of houses in Southampton's second generation was Benjamin Foster, Henry Ludlam, Anthony Ludlam, Ellis Cook, and Arthur Howell. Among others in that section at the eastern end of Southampton township were the Hildreths, Newtons, Sayres, Mitchells and Rogerses. Probably several of the unidentified Ludlam wives of the early generations came from among those families or from families across the nearby East Hampton border.

At one time or another after 1700, the name Ludlow appears in place of Ludlam. WILLIAM LUDLAM OF SOUTHAMPTON, LONG ISLAND

By Charles [illegible], of New York City*

William Ludlam from Matlock, Derbyshire, England, was the founder of a Long Island family that in proportion to its numbers produced an unusually high percentage of "successful" men in the first four generations. We do not know when William Ludlam, his wife Clemence, and their younger children, came to America. We do know that the eldest son, William, and the eldest daughter, Grace, arrived in Boston in 1648. William Ludlam, Sr., first appears in the autumn of 1653 in Southampton, a miller with whom the town had recently made a contract. Savage does not mention his name. I am of the opinion that William Ludlam went to Southampton soon after his arrival in America. It is difficult to believe that a man of his standing and means could have lived in New England or New Amsterdam for long and left no trace of his residence there.

At least three books on the Ludlam family were published between 1878 and 1937, but no comprehensive study of the early generations appears in any one of them—or in all three collectively. In fact, much that was written seems merely to have added to that confusion in which such a high percentage of the genealogy of Eastern Long Island is involved.

The complete lack of early church records for Southampton is offset in studying the Ludlams by the fact that they were men of good estate and left a surprisingly high number of probates. While not active in local politics like the Howells and Fordhams of Southampton or the Conklings and Mulfords of East Hampton, they held good position. They were slave owners, purchasers of imported merchandise such as glass and textiles, and their wills and inventories indicate that they enjoyed a gracious mode of living for the period.

Henry² Ludlam, who succeeded his father as miller, lived at Watermill. That hamlet took its name from the mill built by Edward Howell in 1644 which William¹ Ludlam took over. Henry Ludlam's descendants stayed mostly in that rather loosely described section called Mecox. Anthony² Ludlam, a weaver, also lived in Mecox, but his descendants appear to be associated more with Bridgehampton than those of Henry². James Truslow Adams in his History of Southampton (1918) writes that on the Sandy road east of Sagg Pond, the order of houses in Southampton's second generation was Benjamin Foster, Henry Ludlam, Anthony Ludlam, Ellis Cook, and Arthur Howell. Among others in that section at the eastern end of Southampton township were the Hildreths, Newtons, Sayres, Mitchells, and Rogerses. Probably several of the unidentified Ludlam wives of the early generations came from among these families or from families across the nearby East Hampton border.

At one time or another after 1700, the name Ludlow appears in place of Ludlam. Jeremiah⁴ (*Henry*³⁻², *William*¹), who went to New Providence, New Jersey, signed his will Ludlow while his son Jeremiah⁵ signed Ludlam. By 1800 all the Ludlams left in Southampton were calling themselves Ludlow. The story, long current in Southampton, that the transformation from Ludlam to Ludlow began with a schoolmaster's error is highly plausible. In Orange County, New York, before and after the Revolution, we find the form Ludlum, probably a result of life on the frontier. It is now generally believed that Ludlam is the English form of the name and that there is no connection between that family and the Ludlows.

1. William^1 Ludlam. John Woodruff Jr., of Southampton, Long Island, on 18 Oct. 1653, sold William Ludlam of the same town, 36 acres at the head of the mill pond. The town meeting of Southampton agreed on 21 Nov. 1653 that if the miller "goes forward with his covenant" he shall have six men to help him. In a division of lots in February 1653/54, William Ludlam shared. On 30 May 1654, the town meeting discussed its covenant with the miller, William Ludlam, and agreed "to stand by it to obtain sufficient grinding." Evidently the six men were to help in rebuilding the mill. Evidently, also, some hitch in working out the contract caused the discussion and review of the whole matter at two town meetings.

These early records indicate that William Ludlam was a newcomer to Southampton when, sometime shortly before October 1653, he made a contract to rebuild the mill and to serve as miller. Had he been well established in the town in October 1653, an impersonal reference to "the miller" in the record of 18 Oct. 1653 would be most unlikely. That he was a proprietor of the town so that he drew lots in February 1653/54 was probably a stipulation of his contract.

The town voted William Ludlam liberty to lower the mill, at a meeting on 3 June 1654, and he, in turn, engaged "to grind soe long as the mill will goe." On 4 Feb. 1655/56, he had contributed a half bushel of wheat to Goodman Goldsmith because of the latter's loss by fire. He was a juryman on 30 Apr. 1660. He was sued by Thomas Pope on 5 Mar. 1659/60 for abusing Pope's servant and for "deficient grinding." William Ludlam, Jr., on 3 July 1660, was allowed to sign over to his father, William Ludlam, the four acres that the town had granted to the former. William Ludlam on 7 Feb. 1661 acknowledged that he had made over to Christopher Foster land that he had bought of Richard Smith.

An undated Southampton record states that William Ludlam had sold to his son, Henry Ludlam, the four acres west of the mill that he had procured of his son William Ludlam. He also gave Henry eight acres on the East Hampton path and four more acres by the mill.

The will of William Ludlam, Sr., signed 27 Apr. 1665, proved in June 1665, was in court on 5 Oct. 1665 when his son Henry Ludlam qualified as executor. In the will, he bequeaths a cow to son William and a cow to each of three daughters Grace, Mary and Frances. To son Anthony all housings at the old ground and fifty pounds, "provided that my son Henry shall have a third part of the said land for the terme of seven years after the date thereof." To son Joseph, my now dwelling house with two acres adjoining to the mill and mill pond on the east side of the mill. Also fifty pounds. Gifts to eldest child of son William, to son Henry's child, to daughter Grace's child, to daughter Mary's eldest child and to daughter Frances' eldest child. A covenant with Samuel Davis is mentioned, Davis is to enjoy the cows and the benefit of the house and land specified in the covenant from date thereof until the 4th of March next insuing. Son Henry is named executor. He is to build up the mill, half at his own expense and half out of the estate. Son Henry to have half of the mill, son Joseph the other half. Henry to have fifty pounds and 36 acres at the mill pond head, along with household goods, cattle, etc. On 5 Oct. 1666, Henry Ludlam was released as executor and the estate was closed.

In the account of William^2 Ludlam, reference will be found to several affidavits made early in 1701/02 that show that William Ludlam came from Matlock in Derbyshire.* The given name of his wife, the mother of his children, was CLEMENCE. Her surname is unrecovered. She evidently was dead when he made his will. Howell in his History of Southampton (1887) states that William Ludlam had sons-in-law "Caleb Corwithy, Samuel King and Thomas Scudder, as by his will." That statement has been accepted as a fact by many later writers. I have found nothing to support it, over a period of fifteen years. Certainly the will, a photostat copy of which is in the possession of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, gives it no support. Samuel King of Southold had a wife Frances who was of an age to fit among the children of William Ludlam. Unfortunately King, though he put down in his record book the date of his marriage and the death and age of his wife Frances, omitted her surname. The book yields no hint as to who she was. Thomas^2 Scudder of Huntington named a daughter Clemens in his will in 1699, but there is far more evidence pointing to Scudder's wife as a daughter of John^1 Conklin of Southold than as a daughter of William Ludlam. As to Caleb Corwithy, I find no tie-in whatsoever. I am inclined to believe that Howell's statement was a slip on his part that once in print was not overtaken. If the case could be proved, I believe that the researches of the late Rufus King and the genealogists who were associated with him would have proved it during the many years in which they pursued their search. The best that Mr. King could do was to quote Howell.

* The New Eng. Hist. and Gen. Register, Vol. 58, p. 816, contains several Matlock probates that may indicate relationship of families mentioned to William^1 Ludlam.

Children of William^1 Ludlam and Clemence ———:

+2. i. WILLIAM^2, b. ca. 1628 according to affidavits made in 1701/02.
3. ii. GRACE^2, b. say 1630. She came from England to Boston with her bro. William on the "Triall" in July 1648.
4. iii. MARY^2, b. say 1632.
+5. iv. HENRY^2, b. say 1635.
6. v. JOSEPH^2, b. say 1638. Two excellent articles about him already have appeared. The first, by the late George W. Cocks, may be found in the July issue, N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record (Vol. 47, page 309). The second, by Clarence Almon Torrey, Esq., appeared in the July 1937 issue of THE AMERICAN GENEALOGIST (Vol. 14, page 4). I have nothing to add to the findings of Mr. Torrey and Mr. Cocks.
7. vi. FRANCES^2, b. say 1640.
+8. vii. ANTHONY^2, b. ca. 1651 (g. s.).

2. WILLIAM^2 LUDLAM (William^{1}) was born cir. 1628 probably in Matlock, Derbyshire, England. A series of affidavits made by Southampton, Long Island, people in the spring of 1701/02 for the benefit of John^3 Ludlam (William^{2,1}) that throw much light on the family may be found in Volume 15, page 93 (Apr. 1884) of the N. Y. Gen. and Biog. Record. Their pertinent facts are summarized here: William^2 Ludlam, aged about 20, oldest son of William and Clemence Ludlam, and his sister Grace arrived in Boston on the ship Triall in July 1648. William^2 and his wife Elizabeth were married in Southampton by Capt. Tappin "neer fifty years ago" (probably about 1656). Isaac Halsey and Elizabeth Howell were present at the wedding. Johannah Coe testified that she was with Elizabeth Ludlam wife of William^2 when John^3 was born. Other witnesses testified that John was the oldest son and heir of William^2. Elizabeth, widow of William^2 Ludlam, testified that her father-in-law William^1 Ludlam often "pressed upon her husband to return to England to administer an estate lying in Matlock." Her husband designed to go, but was prevented by death, "dying within two years after the death of his father." An affidavit was presented that William^2 Ludlam died and was buried at Huntington, Long Island, "above thirty years ago."

William Ludlam, Jr., first appears in Southampton town records on 10 Jan. 1658 when the town gave him 13 acres out of land assigned to his father. On 6 Oct. 1659, the town granted him four acres to set his house on. On 3 July 1660, he got permission to assign the four acres given him by the town to his father, William Ludlam. He evidently removed to Huntington, L. I., at this time, for that town's records show that on 21 Dec. 1659 he purchased the mill in Huntington from Mr. William Leverich (the minister). At Huntington on 25 Oct. 1660, he sued Henry Whitney (the famous millwright of Long Island and Connecticut) for breach of contract in connection with the construction of the mill which Whitney had built for Mr. Leverich.

He entered a second suit against Whitney on the day following charging trespass, with grinding and resulting damage to the mill.

William Ludlam of Huntington deeded the mill and all other grants from the town including rights in commonage to Mark Meggs of Oyster Bay on 13 June 1667, delivery to take place in five weeks. He evidently was close to death at the time and the deed was probably given in an effort to leave his wife with liquid assets instead of responsibility for the mill.

John Hindes of Jamaica, Long Island, and wife Mary, sold a house and homelot in Jamaica on 20 Aug. 1667 to Elizabeth Ludlam of Huntington, widow of William Ludlam, deceased. This property lay between the lands of Daniel Denton and Thomas Statthames. She also purchased of Hinds two other parcels of ten acres each, one being on "farthest eastneck." On 16 Nov. 1672, Samuel Messenger of Jamaica, sold land that he had bought of Daniel Whitehead to the widow Elizabeth Ludlam. She was still the "widow Ludlam" on 14 Sept. 1676 in a land description.

On 24 Feb. 1687/88, Elizabeth "X" Smith of Jamaica, formerly wife of William Ludlam of Huntington, deceased, having purchased the Hinds property "in her widowhood" and "upon my marriage with my husband Nehemiah Smith reserving ye sd land to my own dissposal make deed of sale to my sons John and Joseph Ludlam." John was to have the home lot and the rest of the land and meadows were to be equally divided between the brothers. This deed is one of several that the family exchanged that day and it appears that the transfers were made about the time that William^3, youngest son of William^2 and Elizabeth Ludlam came of age.

In the Court of Common Pleas on 24 May 1703, Samuel Smith of Jamaica, aged about 67, and Elizabeth, wife of Nehemiah Smith, of the same place and formerly the wife of William Ludlam, deceased, of Southampton, L. I. age about 70, deposed that about 60 years ago, John Smith, father of the deponents, living in Taunton, Plymouth Colony, "left his habitation and went to Maspeth Kills in Queens County, L. I., ... and was there killed by the Indians. John Smith eldest son of said John Smith, their father, and brother to these deponents, is now living at Hempstead."

Children of William^2 Ludlam and Elizabeth Smith:

+9. i. JOHN^3, b. say 1658.
+10. ii. JOSEPH^3, b. say 1661.
11. iii. ELIZABETH^3, b. say 1663. On 23 Jan. 1682/83, John Carman and Elizabeth Ludlam, she being of Jamaica, petitioned for a marriage license. N. Y. Licenses gives the date 20 Jan. He was later Capt. and Col. John Carman.
+12. iv. WILLIAM^3, b. say 1667.
(Perhaps, one or two other daughters).

5. Henry^2 Ludlam (William^{1}), born say 1635, probably in England, appears first in Southampton, L. I. records 30 Apr. 1657 when listed among the men who had received "half a pound of powder a peece delivered out of ye magazine." At an unidentified date after 1660, his father sold him three separate parcels of land. Henry Ludlam marked a colt in East Hampton on 27 June 1660. It is probable that he accompanied his brother William to Huntington, L. I. about 1660 as he was made a freeman of Connecticut along with other Huntington men, 12 May 1664. His name does not again appear in any of the Hampton's records until 3 Oct. 1665, when being of Southampton, he sold to Nathaniel Foster of East Hampton, holdings in Huntington valued at 200 pounds based on property in the 2nd Allotment. This property included housings and other buildings. As he was appointed executor of his father's estate on 5 Oct. 1665, it seems probable that he returned to Southampton at the time of his father's death to take over the mill.

The town meeting of Southampton on 27 Mar. 1666 decided that 20 acres "was due" to Henry and Joseph Ludlam. The land was measured out on Mecox path and at the mill. Henry Ludlam gave his brother Joseph three acres east of the mill on 15 Aug. 1666. He was named on a whale cutting team on 23 Mar. 1667, and, on 25 May 1667, he exchanged lands with John Beswick and got more acreage at the mill pond. Joseph Ludlam gave his brother Henry all his holdings at the mill pond except his orchard on 6 Apr. 1668, and Henry gave Joseph land elsewhere. Henry Ludlam was among those Southampton men each of whom in April 1669 donated one acre out of the "next division" to John Tenison. He signed a town deed 15 Apr. 1675, participated in the drawing of lots December 1676, 11 May 1677, 26 Dec. 1677, and on 1 June 1680 drew lots at Hog's Neck. He again participated in a drawing of lots on 18 Sept. 1686. In the census of 1683, his household had "two poles" (men of maturity) and his estate was estimated at 203 pounds.

On 16 July 1684, he sold to Thomas Stephens two acres which he had taken up as a part of his division "at a place called Mill Neck near unto his now dwelling house." A town meeting on 24 Aug. 1686 voted four acres at the head of the mill pond to him and in return he made over to the town certain roadside land near the mill and near "his now dwelling house at the mill." He drew lots at Accobogue meadow on 21 Sept. 1686.

Perhaps his greatest honor came on 23 Sept. 1686 when the town nominated Major John Howell to go to Yorke "about the present affaire of making good our title to our land called in question at Shinecock and Henry Ludlam is likewise chosen to wait upon him." Governor Dongan was putting the screws to the towns on Eastern Long Island with what today would be called a broad grafting policy. To be chosen as one of the town's two diplomatic representatives to "go to Yorke" was no mean honor. S. Cortlandt (Stephen Van Cortlandt) on 26 Mar. 1688 gave a receipt to Henry Ludlam for 40 shillings and a fat lamb—in all two pounds five shillings—for the 1687 quit rent for the town of Southampton. These last two entries probably indicate that, in addition to his mill, Henry Ludlam owned a coastal vessel and marketed the surplus products of his mill in New York and other coast towns.

The will of Edmund Shaw (of Southampton) signed 3 May 1675, names sons Thomas and Richard Shaw and daughters Ludlum wife of Henry Ludlum and Hester wife of John Foster. The estate was divided among the heirs in court 5-6 June 1677 by Thomas Shaw, administrator, and Henry Ludlum. The will of Richard Shaw Sr. (son of Edmund Shaw) of Southampton, dated 7 Sept. 1680, names as overseers "my friends and brothers Henry Ludlam of Southampton and John Parsons of East Hampton." The given name of Henry Ludlam's wife was probably Jane.

For something over sixty years, 25 Oct. 1681 has appeared in print as the date marking the death of Henry Ludlam. Actually, "Henry Ludlam late of Southampton departed this life on the 25th Oct. 1691." He died intestate and on 27 Nov. 1691, his eldest son, Henry Ludlam, was named administrator of his estate.

Volume 5, page 287 of Southampton printed records contains an abstract from the old "Red Deed Book" which shows an agreement signed 15 June 1692. The abstract states that Henry Ludlam died intestate and by law his lands passed to his eldest son Henry. And there being another son, William, Henry "being privey to his father's mind and will that William should have one-half" he therefore conveys to him the new house that stands upon the east part of the said home lot . . . . . . also a piece of land that lies at the rear of Thomas Rose's home lot and Humphrey Hughe's home lot; also a close called Peter's close; also a gore of land; also ½ the land in Little Hog Neck and a 50 of commonage. "The said William Ludlam being under age John Foster and James White are his guardians." (John Foster's wife, Hester Shaw, was a sister of Henry Ludlam's wife, Jane Shaw. James White married Ruth Stratton of East Hampton, 24 Nov. 1675. I have been unable to connect him with the Ludlams.)

Henry^3 Ludlam was born 8 Jan. 1669, according to Southampton records. He evidently married early, for he appears in the census of 1698 with a wife and a family of six other members who have always been accepted as children. It is highly probable, however, that his mother Jane and her youngest daughter Abigail were among the females named in his household, a point that will be discussed in the article on him. "The old Mrs.

Ludlam'' whose death 24 Sept. 1713 is entered in East Hampton records could hardly have been anyone but the widow of Henry^{2} Ludlam.

Children of Henry^{2} Ludlam and Jane Shaw:

13. i. JANE^{3}, b. ca. 1664, the only child of Henry^{2} Ludlam born when William^{1} Ludlam made his will, m. JEREMIAH^{3} CONKLING (Jeremiah^{2}, Ananias^{1}) of East Hampton. Her identity has for long been one of East Hampton's most interesting genealogical problems, due to the great number of unsolved leads contained in her will, signed 11 Apr. 1738. Her marriage prob. took place well before 1700. Her husband was his father's heir and as such was one of the richest men of East Hampton. She was childless and Jeremiah^{3} Conkling adopted his grand-nephew and namesake, Jeremiah^{5} Conkling (Elisha^{4}, Cornelius^{3}, Jeremiah^{2}, Ananias^{1}), born 11 Mar. 1721/22. The adoption prob. took place soon after the child's birth. He was the second son of Elisha^{4} Conkling and Esther^{4} Parsons, dau. of Samuel^{3} Parsons (John^{2}, Robert^{1}) and Phebe or Deborah Ludlam (see below) and consequently was a grand-nephew of Jane (Ludlam) Conkling as well as of her husband. Jeremiah Conkling in his will, signed 11 Jan. 1732/33, named his adopted son his heir. Will of Mrs. Jane Conkling, signed in 1738, does not mention her husband's heir, but leaves a legacy to Jeremiah^{5} Conkling, ''the natural son of Jeremiah Conkling, deceased, and of Jane Gardiner, surviving.'' (The word natural is not used here in the sense of illegitimate, but by nature or blood.) This Jeremiah^{5} Conkling, known through life as ''Jeremiah Conkling of Amagansett,'' was an only son of Jeremiah^{4} Conkling (David^{3}, Jeremiah^{2}, Ananias^{1}) who was lost in a whaling accident in 1719, and of Jane Parsons, sister of Esther, wife of Elisha^{4} Conkling (above). Thus Jeremiah^{5} Conkling of Amagansett, mentioned in Jane Conkling's will in 1738, like Jeremiah^{5} Conkling, mentioned as his heir in the will of her husband, Jeremiah^{3} Conkling in 1732/33, was a grand-nephew of both. Jane^{4} (Parsons) Conkling, mother of Jeremiah^{5} of Amagansett, m. (2) Giles Gardiner and is designated as his wife in the will of Mrs. Jane^{3} Conkling in 1738. In her will, Mrs. Jane Conkling, named as her residuary heir ''Jane Conkling, the daughter of Samuel Conkling, deceased, and of Clemence Huntting, surviving.'' Jane^{5} Conkling (Samuel^{4}, David^{3}, Jeremiah^{2}, Ananias^{1}) was the dau. of Clemence Parsons, sister of Esther^{4} and Jane^{4} Parsons, wives of Elisha^{4} and Jeremiah^{4} Conkling, respectively. Clemence^{4} Parsons m. Samuel Conkling, 12 Mar. 1723/24. They had one child, Jane^{5}, bp. 5 Nov. 1727. Samuel^{4} Conkling was drowned in 1726, and on 21 Mar. 1727/28, his widow m. John Huntting, son of the Rev. Nathaniel Huntting of East Hampton. Thus the child, Jane^{5} Conkling, named as heir by Mrs. Jane^{3} Conkling in 1738 was her deceased husband's grand-niece as well as her own. Mrs. Jane^{3} Conkling in her will in 1738 gave her wearing apparel ''to my three sisters Sarah Leek, Deborah Parsons and Hannah Conkling.'' She made John Huntting and his wife Clemence her exs. Recompense Sherrill and John Davis, witnesses. Mrs. Jane^{3} Conkling, widow of Jeremiah^{3}, d. 26 Apr. 1741, age 76 yrs. 6 mo. (g. s.).

14. ii. SARAH^{3}, b. say 1667, m. abt. 1684, JOHN^{3} PARSONS (Samuel^{2}, Robert^{1}). Their oldest son b. abt. 1685 was named Henry, the first appearance of that name in the Parsons family of East Hampton. Three other identified children were Sarah, Abigail and Puah. John Parsons d. 19 Mar. 1700/01, and on 28 Dec. 1703, his widow m. Ichabod Leek of East Hampton by whom she had several children. She d. 24 Sept. 1743, ''of bloody flux'' aged ''abt 74 yrs.'' The Rev. Mr. Huntting's estimate of her age may be taken as approximate, now and then he made bad guesses.

15. iii. HENRY^{3}, b. 8 Jan. 1669, Southampton rec.

16. iv. ?PHEBE^{3}, b. say 1671. Howell, Halsey and other writers on Southampton and East Hampton state that the wife of ''Samuel Parsons of East Hampton'' was Phebe Ludlam. As their ''Samuel Parsons'' is largely a mixture of Samuel^{2} (Robert^{1}), Samuel^{3} (John^{2}, Robert^{1}) and Samuel^{4} (Samuel^{3}, John^{2}, Robert^{1}), no great reliance need be put on their choice of his wife. East Hampton recs. contain many references to the ''wife of Samuel Parsons,'' i.e. Samuel^{3} (John^{2}, Robert^{1}), none of which gives her name. It is difficult to figure how the Deborah Parsons mentioned as sister in the will of Jane Conkling in 1738 could have been other than the wife of Samuel^{3} Parsons. If his first wife was Phebe Ludlam, he may have later m. her sister Deborah, but Phebe may be entirely imaginary.

17. v. DEBORAH^{3}, b. ca. 1673. ''The wife of Samuel Parsons d. of the bloody flux 28 Sept. 1743 abt. 70 yrs. old.'' (That was four days after the death of Sarah Leek, above.) Data concerning Abigail Ludlum (below) support the belief that she was a sister of the wife of Samuel Parsons.

18. vi. WILLIAM^{3}, b. say 1676. Credited with 3 pounds in town rates in 1700. No further rec.

19. vii. HANNAH^{3}, b. say 1678. She prob. m. ANANIAS^{3} CONKLING (Benjamin^{2}, Ananias^{1}) of East Hampton, b. abt. 1673, m. abt. 1696. His wife Hannah was living when he made his will, 11 Apr. 1739. No record of her d. found. They named their oldest son, Henry—the first of the East Hampton Conklings to bear that name. However, the sister Hannah Conkling of Jane Conkling's will in 1738 may have been Hannah, wife of BENJAMIN^{3} CONKLING (Benjamin^{2}, Ananias^{1}). She d. 13 Sept. 1748 aged ''abt. 70.''

20. viii. ABIGAIL^{3}, b. say 1680. She prob. was the Abigail Ludlum listed in the household of her bro. Henry Ludlum in the Southampton census of 1698. She m. 11 June 1702, HENRY PEIRSON of Southampton. He was town clerk and entered his family record on the town books. Of his eight children the first five were boys, but daus. were b. in 1714 and 1716. The final entry reads: ''Son Samuel b. 15 Mar. 1721, and my wife departed this life 27 Mar. 1721.'' The East Hampton Ch. recs. by the Rev. Mr. Huntting have this entry: ''28 July 1721, a son of Henry Peirson of Southampton nursed up at Sam Parsons age abt. 4 months, died.'' It would seem likely that after the mother's death following his birth, the infant Samuel was sent to the home of his mother's sister, the wife of Samuel Parsons.

8. ANTHONY^2 LUDLAM (William^{1}), born ca. 1651 according to his gravestone at Mecox, the oldest stone in the town of Southampton, which states that he died 17 Mar. 1682 in his 31st year. He was among the Southampton men who in April 1669 agreed to each donate an acre out of their next division to John Tenison. On 26 June 1671, he signed an Indian who agreed to go whaling for "Anthony Ludlam and his company the next season." On 9 Apr. 1671, John Beswick sold to Isaac Mills a house and four acres that he had bought of Ellis Cook and Anthony Ludlam. In 1675, Anthony Ludlam mortgaged land to Elisha Cooke. The town of Southampton gave Anthony Ludlam two acres in his close and one acre near his close on 11 May 1677. In 1676 Joseph Ludlam of Oyster Bay deeded all his remaining property in Southampton to his brother Anthony Ludlam of that town. Anthony Ludlam participated in Southampton lot draws in Dec. 1676 and on 11 May and 26 Dec. 1677, and again on 1 June 1680.

Inventory of the estate of Anthony Ludlam, deceased, of Southampton, was made 22 Mar. 1681/82 by Samuel Johnes, constable, John Howell, Jr., and Nicholas Eades. His widow, Sarah, received administration, 8 July 1682, sureties being Samuel Johnes and Francis Sayre. That his widow Sarah married Isaac Corey is shown by Southold records which state that "Isaac Corey was married to Sarah Ludly in ye year 1682." Corey, one of the Southold family of that name, first appears in Southampton in the census of 1683. He and his wife returned to Southold about 1692. After his death his widow returned to Southampton.

Southampton, May 1691: "Isaac Corey of Southampton and Anthony Ludlam, eldest son of Anthony, deceased—Isaac Corey married the widow of Anthony Ludlam and he releases to Anthony all claims on the land of his father also gives him four acres with housings and buildings that he bought of John Curwithy of Southampton." (Other items given to Anthony Ludlam by Isaac Corey included a negro man, Tom.) Anthony Ludlam agreed that Corey should have possession of the house until 16 Oct. 1691. They divided the crops and Anthony paid Corey 20 pounds and freed him and his wife Sarah of their bond. The constant appearance of Cooke men as witnesses to deeds, etc. for Anthony^2 Ludlam and Anthony^3, indicate that Sarah, wife of Anthony^2, may have been born with the surname Cook.

Children of Anthony^2 Ludlam and Sarah (Cook?):

+21. i. ANTHONY^3, b. ca. 1671 (g. s.).

22. ii. PHEBE^3, b. ca. 1673. On 30 Jan. 1691, John (Jonah) Rogers and wife Phebe, dau. of Anthony Ludlam, acknowledged receipt of their share in his est., and released Sarah Ludlam, wid. of Anthony, Isaac Corey and "my bro. Anthony," the adm'rs.

+23. iii. JOSEPH^3, b. ca. 1675, founder of the Cape May, New Jersey, family.

(Perhaps another daughter or two.)

9. JOHN^3 LUDLAM (William$^{2, 1}$), born ca. 1658 at Southampton, L. I., came to Jamaica with his mother and on 13 Mar. 1679, exchanged a small parcel of land for land of Cornelius Berrien. The lands of John Ludlam are mentioned in Jamaica records, 6 Feb. 1679/80. He is on the town list of 1 Jan. 1683. On 25 Dec. 1684, he, being of Jamaica, sold land to Jonas Wood. He and brother Joseph Ludlam are listed together in the Jamaica census of 1683. John Carpenter, Jr., sold land to John and Joseph Ludlam on 24 Feb. 1687/88, and on the same day he endorsed a deed of gift by his mother to his brother Joseph. On that day, also, he and his brother Joseph deeded land to their younger brother William Ludlam, and he transferred to William five acres that he had purchased from William Denman on 5 Dec. 1684.

He exchanged land with George Wooley, Jr., on 14 Jan. 1696. In 1698 he bought land of Richard and Jane Oldfield, and on 28 Dec. 1704, William Carpenter and wife Elizabeth sold him Jamaica land. He entered his cattle mark several times but the only date given is 18 Jan. 1707/08. On 21 Mar. 1701/02 he gave a power of attorney to Thomas Cardale and on 10 Apr. 1702, he put up a 500-pound bond to protect Thomas Cardale of Jamaica who evidently planned a trip to England and was prepared to represent John Ludlam's claim to certain property in Matlock (see William^2 Ludlam, No. 2). It appears that Cardale did not go to England for on 9 July 1702 he gave Ludlam a release from the bond. John Ludlam was collector for Jamaica in 1707 and 1719. He was on the town rate list 3 Feb. 1708/09, and in 1715 served in Capt. John Carpenter's Jamaica militia company. On 20 Apr. 1714, he sold land to Theunis Bergen and on the same day gave Bergen a second deed covering one-half part of the land laid out to John and Joseph Ludlam by the town. He does not appear in Jamaica records after 1715. Sometime before 1690 he married Ruth Carpenter. The will of John Carpenter of Jamaica, signed 10 Nov. 1694, gave furniture to daughter Ruth Ludlam.

Children of John^3 Ludlam and Ruth Carpenter:

24. i. HENRY^4, b. ca. 1690, m. (1) Judith Smith, who d. 25 Aug. 1712, aged 23 years, dau. of John Smith and Elizabeth Mills. He m. (2) Phebe Smith, a sister of his first wife. He m. (3) 26 May 1723, Damaris Smith, who d. 30 May 1767 aged 63, dau. of John Smith and Ruth Smith. He was a member of Capt. John Carpenter's co. of Jamaica militia in 1715. On 13 Dec. 1718, he and Samuel Ludlam and others confessed to rioting in resisting collection of the minister's tax rate (from 1704 until 1728, Jamaica dissenters resisted the attempts of the Ch. of Eng. to encroach on them). On 23 May 1719, the rioters petitioned for remission of their fines. They complained that the jury which convicted them "were mostly churchmen." On 31 Oct. 1726, he and Nathaniel Smith were named to take charge of intestate ests. in Jamaica and to inventory them. By 1729 he was a fence viewer, later a townsman and trustee, and by 1735 was a Justice of Queens Co. He took inventory of the est. of Dinah Gale of Jamaica, 1 Dec. 1730, and on 10 June 1732 witnessed the will of John Carpenter. The will of Henry Ludlam of Jamaica, yeoman, signed 27 May 1752, proved 25 Oct. 1752, names wife Damaris, two sisters Ruth Smith of Jamaica, wid., and Hannah wife of Joshua Carpenter of Jamaica. Cousin William Ludlam, an ex. Will of Damaris Ludlam of Jamaica, wid., signed 26 May 1767, proved 5 June 1767, names sister Elizabeth Smith, cousins (nieces) Mary McNish wife of George McNish, Sarah Van Dyke and Ruth Scot dau. of my sister Jemima. Also mentions Ruth McNish, dau. of cousin Mary McNish; Samuel Knox, son of sister Jemima; cousins (nieces) Ruth Smith and Abigail Mott, daus. of sister Ruth deceased. Exs. Thomas Bayles and Daniel Bayles of Jamaica. Henry Ludlam d. 9 Oct. 1752 in his 63d yr. (g. s. Jamaica). He had one ch. by wife Judith, John Ludlam, b. ca. 1711, d. 15 Nov. 1748, aged 37 (g. s.). Will of John Ludlam of Jamaica, signed 1 Nov. 1748, proved 4 Dec. 1749, mentions wife Keziah, "my father has obligated himself this day to do for her." Residue to father Henry Ludlam who is named ex. Will of David Carman of Jamaica, signed 14 Aug. 1767, mentions sister Keziah Ludlam and her two daus. Phebe and Mary. William Ludlam of Jamaica an ex. Henry Ludlam had one dau. by wife Damaris, Ruth, who d. 4 Jan. 1747, aged 20 yrs.

25. ii. Ruth^4, b. say 1693, m. abt. 1710 John Smith, called sister in will of Henry Ludlam.

26. iii. Hannah^4, b. say 1695, m. Joshua Carpenter. Called sister in will of Henry Ludlam.

27. iv. Samuel^4, b. say 1697. No proof that he was a son of John^3 Ludlam found, and he may have been a son of Joseph^3 Ludlam (William^{2,1}). He was a member of Capt. John Carpenter's co. of Jamaica militia in 1715. He was engaged in the riot of 1718 mentioned above. On 23 Sept. 1718, he witnessed the will of Jonathan Deane of Jamaica. Soon afterward he removed to Morris Co., N. J. While still in Jamaica he prob. m. ——— Creed. Samuel Ludlam, weaver, of Hanover, Morris Co., N. J., gave bond as adm'r of est. of John Vroliman, 2 Feb. 1732/33. Samuel Ludlam, Sr., of Mendham, Morris Co., N. J., d. intestate. His wid. declined adm. on 17 Dec. 1760 in favor of eldest son Samuel Ludlam Jr., who signed adm. bond 22 Dec. 1760 with Samuel Arnold as surety. Several Ludlams, obviously of the fifth generation, who appear in Morristown, N. J., Ch. records after 1745 were prob. his children.

10. Joseph^3 Ludlam (William^{2,1}), born say 1667 at Huntington, L. I., is listed with his older brother John Ludlam in the Jamaica census of 1683. On 24 Feb. 1687/88, Elizabeth Smith, his mother, deeded him a house in Jamaica. The deed was endorsed by his brother John. On the same day, John Carpenter, Jr., deeded land to John and Joseph Ludlam. John Clemens of Jamaica sold land to Joseph Ludlam of that town on 5 Nov. 1712. Joseph Ludlam appears on a Jamaica tax list of 3 Feb. 1708/09. He was a member of Capt. John Carpenter's Jamaica militia company in 1715. It seems probable that soon after 1715 he removed to that section of Elizabethboro, Essex Co., N. J., which later became Westfield Parish and eventually Westfield township. No hint of his wife's name found.

Children of Joseph^3 Ludlam and ———:

28. i. Joseph^4, b. say 1690, m. before 17 May 1718, Anna, dau. of Cornelius Hetfield, whose will dated at Elizabeth, N. J., 17 May 1718, names dau. Anna Ludlam. (Cornelius Hetfield was the son of Matthias Hetfield and Maria dau. of Cornelius Melyen, Patroon of Staten Island.) Will of Joseph Ludlam of Westfield Parish, signed 31 Oct. 1765, pro. 4 July 1766, names wife Anna; sons Cornelius and Matthias; dau. Anna wife of John Searing; dau. Susannah wife of Samuel Wood; grandson Abraham Ludlam; grandson Maline Ludlam; my two grandsons above named Matthias son of Matthias and Maline son of Matthias Ludlam. Exs. sons Cornelius and Matthias. Witnesses Henry Hayes, Matthias Ludlam and Ebenezer Price. On 14 Aug. 1799, both Cornelius and Matthias Ludlam being dead, Meline Ludlam was named admr.

29. ii. Obadiah^4, b. say 1698, was a witness 1 Aug. 1718 to a division among Nathan, Nehemiah, Wait and Caleb Smith of Jamaica. He prob. removed to Essex Co., N. J., and may have been the Obadiah Ludlam of Elizabethtown whose will, signed 21 May 1770, pro. 24 May 1770, names son Obadiah; grandson Jacob Ludlam (under 21), dau. Sarah Ludlam (under 21). Ex. Noah Marsh, friend. It is probable, however, that this Obadiah was of the fifth generation.

30. iii. Abraham^4, b. say 1700, was a witness on 1 Aug. 1718, along with Obadiah Ludlam, to a division in the Smith family of Jamaica. On 18 May 1730, William Creed of Jamaica and wife Mary sold Abraham Ludlam of Jamaica land on "East side of Hudson River to the northward of the Highlands in the county of Dutchess, one equal fourth part of one half share of the undivided land lying within that pettent known by the name of the Nine Pattentees in lot No. 6." Price 100 pounds. John Carman, Benjamin Hinchman witnesses. This deed was entered in Queens Co. 23 Mar. 1761 on oath of Benjamin Hinchman.

12. William^3 Ludlam (William^{2,1}), born ca. 1667 in Huntington, L. I., on 24 Feb. 1687/88 received from his oldest brother John Ludlam of Jamaica, the transfer of a deed of sale for five acres of Jamaica land that had been deeded to John Ludlam by John Denman of Jamaica on 5 Dec. 1684. Also, on that date, John and Joseph Ludlam deeded to their brother William Ludlam, Jamaica land on the Hempstead road. Both deeds were probably given about the time that William Ludlam came of age. Nehemiah Smith, planter, of Jamaica on 4 Mar. 1688/89, made over to his son-in-law (step-son) William Ludlam, 10 acres abutting on lands of John and Joseph Ludlam. Lands of William Ludlam are mentioned in Jamaica records 19 May 1691. On 11 Jan. 1703/04, being of Jamaica, William Ludlam sold 13½ acres on the Hempstead road to Timothy Wells. He appears on the town rate list of 3 Feb. 1708/09, was a member of Capt. John Carpenter's Jamaica militia company in 1715, and his lands are mentioned in a Jamaica deed of 15 Oct. 1717.

The Wawayanda Patent in Orange County, N. Y., was granted on 29 Apr. 1703 to Dr. John Bridges and eleven others, and settlement of what is now Goshen began immediately. On 10 July 1721, fifteen men (many from Jamaica), including William Ludlam, signed a deed of trust to John Yelverton of Goshen in order to lay out village lots, a plot for the church and other civic plots. The deed of trust states that "the owners of Wawayanda had lately made a conveyance to John Everett and Samuel Clows of 1/6 part of all said lands to the intent that a township should be taken up and laid out," etc.

Eager's Orange County (1846) outlines this deed but does not state that the signers were in residence. French's Gazeteer of New York State (1860) and later writers assume that they were in residence. I doubt if William Ludlam was ever in residence in Goshen. Isaac Ludlam, his son, was Captain of Goshen militia in 1716. Isaac Ludlam is called brother in the will of Nehemiah Ludlam, a known son of William. As William Ludlam does not mention a son Isaac in his will it appears that he had already turned his Wawayanda holdings over to him.

The will of William Ludlam of Jamaica, signed 11 Mar. 1731, proved 7 Apr. 1732, mentions wife Sarah; son William; son Nehemiah; daughters Sarah, Phebe, Martha and Deborah; granddaughter Mary Ludlo (called Mary Suelo in N. Y. Surrogate's copy of the will) and her brother Daniel, Samuel Higbee and Henry Ludlam, executors. The will mentions a debt of 50 pounds to Samuel Bayard a New York merchant, an indication that Ludlam probably was a merchant in Jamaica. There are indications that his wife was Sarah Higbee of Jamaica.

Children of William^{3} Ludlam and Sarah Higbee **?:

31. i. WILLIAM^{4}, b. say 1688. As William Ludlam, Jr., he was a member of Capt. John Carpenter's Jamaica militia co. in 1715. On 28 Apr. 1738, Derick Amberman of Jamaica gave William and Nehemiah Ludlam a right of way through land they had sold him. William Ludlam was named appraiser of est^{a}., 3 Apr. 1753, fence viewer, 2 Apr. 1754. Will of Nicholas Everett of Jamaica, signed 5 June 1723 names dau. Patience Ludlam. Will of William Ludlam of Jamaica, signed 1 July 1766, pro. 22 Dec. 1766, mentions wife Patience; three daus., Mary wife of Amos Denton, Elizabeth wife of Daniel Everett and Judith, "single woman." Also, sons Nicholas and William Ludlam and grandson William, eldest son of son William Ludlam. (This grandson was William^{6} Ludlam (William$^{5, 4, 3, 2, 1}$) who in turn left a son William^{7} Ludlam.) Mentions my three sons William (the heir) Nicholas and Daniel; grandchildren Ludlam Smith, Patience Smith, Patience Ludlam, dau. of son Nicholas, Patience Denton, dau. of dau. Mary; grandson William Martin and his three sisters Hanah, Elizabeth and Phebe Martin; grandson William Skidmore. Exs. Three sons. Witnesses Hope Rhoads, Jabe Woodruff and Robert Hinchman. Will of Patience Ludlam, widow, of Jamiaca, signed 18 Feb. 1775, pro. 10 Mar. 1777, mentions granddau. Patience Ludlam, dau. of son William; granddau. Mary Ludlam, dau. of son Daniel; granddau. Patience Ludlam, dau. of son Nicholas; great-granddau. Patience Smith, dau. of grandson Ludlam Smith; son Nicholas; dau. Judith; three daus. Mary wife of Amos Denton, Elizabeth wife of Daniel Everett, and Judith; granddau. Patience wife of Andrew Oakley. Exs. Son-in-law Daniel Everett and cousin Moses Higbee. William Ludlam, Jr., a witness.

32. ii. ISAAC^{4}, b. say 1690, was Captain of Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., militia in 1716. Named an ex. in will of Caleb Smith of Goshen, 22 Apr. 1732, along with Wait Smith of Goshen and Nehemiah Smith, Jr., of Jamaica. Will of John Gale of Goshen, signed 3 May 1746, pro. 24 Oct. 1750, mentions dau. Catherine Ludlam. (Gale formerly was of Jamaica.) Will of Isaac Ludlam of Goshen, signed 30 Oct. 1766, pro. 1 Aug. 1767, mentions wife Catherine, son Isaac, son-in-law Samuel Denton, dau. Mary, son John, son Benjamin, "my three sons to have my undivided land in Patent of Wawayanda." Also mentions dau. Elizabeth (evidently unm.), dau. Sarah. Exs. son Isaac Ludlam and son-in-law Samuel Denton. (Though Goshen Ch. was established in 1721, existing recs. begin 50 yrs. later. They show marriages of several of Isaac Ludlam's grandchildren.)[*]

33. iii. NEHEMIAH^{4}, b. say 1692, witnessed a deed from Timothy Mills of Smithtown and Hannah Bunce of Huntington, L. I., to Alexander Smith, late of Huntington, of a house and land at Stony Brook, Brookhaven, 18 Jan. 1724/25. His land is mentioned in Jamaica land records, 22 July and 7 May 1744. Will of Benjamin Meeker of Elizabethtown, N. J., signed 22 Nov. 1744, mentions "dau. Phebe (wife of Nehemiah Ludlam)." Will of Nehemiah Ludlam of Jamaica, signed 13 Apr. 1750, pro. 24 Apr. 1750, names daus. Phebe, wife of Samuel Denton, and Johannah; wife (unnamed); son Nehemiah (under age); bros. William

35. v. PHEBE^4, m. CALEB SMITH, whose will signed 27 Dec. 1731 at Goshen, Orange Co., N. Y., names wife Phebe; Isaac Ludlow of Goshen an adm'r.

36. vi. MARTHA^4.

37. vii. DEBORAH^4.

15. HENRY^3 LUDLAM (Henry^{2}, William^{1}) was born 8 Jan. 1669, Southampton records. He succeeded his father as the town miller. He evidently married early, for the Southampton census of 1698 shows him with a large household. Two of the females in his household of eight persons were probably his mother Jane and his youngest and still unmarried sister Abigail. Note the order in which names appear in the census and in his will, dated 18 Sept. 1735:

Census (1698)		Children named in will (1735)
Henry Ludlam	Rachel Ludlam (wife)	William Ludlam	Rachel
William Ludlam	Jane Ludlam	Henry Ludlam	Jane
Henry Ludlam Jr	Abigail Ludlam	Jeremiah Ludlam	Mercy
Jeremiah Ludlam	Rachel Ludlam Jr.	David Ludlam (under age)	Deborah Abigail

It appears from the will that Rachel was the oldest daughter and the only one born when the 1698 census was taken, while the daughter Abigail was the youngest.

Henry Ludlam was credited with 39 pounds in the Southampton "estimate" of 1700. On 19 May 1702, an affidavit was presented to the Government at New York relative to the disposition of certain goods taken from the sloop Mary at Southampton by Doctor Wade, Henry Ludlam and others. He had rights in town commonage through his father in 1712, and drew lots that same year. He and his sons Henry, Jr., and Jeremiah were members of Capt. Josiah Tapping's Bridgehampton militia company in 1715. On 25 Jan. 1724/25, he witnessed the will of Richard Clark of the Manor of St. George (Brookhaven). He appears last in the town records in the tax list of 28 May 1736.

The will of Henry Ludlam of Southampton, dated 18 Sept. 1735, proved 17 Sept. 1737, names sons William (as heir he receives home, barns, mill and stream), Henry (Great Bible, a part of his legacy), Jeremiah, and David (under age). Also names daughters Rachel, Jane, Mercy, Deborah and Abigail. The son Jeremiah and all daughters received 8 shillings each, an indication that all had received their portions. Household goods and 10 pounds of wool annually to wife (unnamed). Son William Ludlam, executor. His wife probably was Rachel Halsey.

Children of Henry^3 Ludlam and Rachel Halsey?:

38. i. WILLIAM^4, b. ca. 1690, was a witness to the will of Abiel Cook of Southampton, 3 Apr. 1740. On 4 Jan. 1748, William Ludlam of Southampton sold to Elias Petty one-half of watermill and stream and one-half of bolting mill for 65 pounds. He is called bro. William Ludlam in will of Henry Ludlam, signed 30 Jan. 1761.

39. ii. HENRY^4, b. say 1692. He appears several times in Southampton town recs. Survey of Little South division, Southampton, 6 Sept. 1763, mentions lands of heirs of Henry Ludlam. Will of Henry Ludlam of Southampton, dated 30 Jan. 1761, proved 13 Feb. 1761, mentions wife (unnamed), son Henry Ludlam, bro. William Ludlam, son Silas Ludlam, son Jeremiah Ludlam, son Stephen Ludlam, dau. Rachel (unm.), daus. Jemima, Mary and Sarah (20 shillings each). Son Henry Ludlam and David Halsey exs.

40. iii. RACHEL^4, b. say 1695, m. 26 May 1724 at East Hampton, THOMAS SQUIRE. She d. 1 Dec. 1753 at Westfield, N. J.

41. iv. JEREMIAH^4, b. ca. 1697 according to his g. s. which states he d. 1 Aug. 1764 in 67th yr. (g. s. New Providence, N. J.).* He m. (1) TEMPERANCE ———. Her g. s. at Southampton states "Mrs. Temperance Ludlam wife of Mr. Jeremiah Ludlam died 21 Apr. 1726 in her 29th yr." He m. (2) ELIZABETH (SMITH) SAYRE, wid. of Isaac Sayre of Southampton, and dau. of John Smith and Sarah White. She was b. 26 Nov. 1699. She d. at New Providence, 21 Mar. 1790, aged 90. Jeremiah Ludlam's land is mentioned in Southampton recs. in 1727. He was called "miller" on 4 Apr. 1727 when he petitioned to have the highway changed so that he could move his mill. On 13 May 1733, he sold 40 acres at the mill to John Conkling. The deed included house, barn, mill, utensils and stream. Price, 250 pounds. Sale probably marks date of his removal to New Providence (now identified on map as lying on border between Morris and Union Counties, N. J.). He appears on a New Providence list of 1737. Will of Jeremiah Ludlow of Morris Co., N. J., signed 1 May 1764, proved 27 Aug. 1764, names son Jeremiah; wife Elizabeth; grandchildren Samuel, Temperance, Deborah, Wilkey and Daniel Ludlow (all apparently under age), children of son Jeremiah Ludlow. Also John Ludlow (also under age) son of son Cornelius. Ex. son Cornelius Ludlow. His son Jeremiah^5 died in 1768 leaving a will dated 19 Mar. 1768, proved 1 Aug. 1768 which he signed Jeremiah Ludlam. He named wife Elizabeth (she was Elizabeth dau. of Joseph Doty of Elizabethboro whose will signed 3 Sept. 1768 mentions oldest dau. Elizabeth, wife of Jeremiah Ludlam, deceased). Also names children Samuel, Temperance, Deborah, Wilkie, Daniel, Joseph, Mercy, Jeremiah and Mary (Mary under 14). To daus. Temperance and Deborah, each a bed that was their mother's. Sons Wilk, Daniel, Joseph and Jeremiah to be put to trades. Exs. Bro-in-law George Doughty and wife Elizabeth. Cornelius^5, b. ca. 1728, m. 21. ANTHONY^{3} LUDLAM (Anthony^{2}, William^{1}), born at Southampton, L. I., in 1671 according to his gravestone at Mecox which states that he died 21 Dec. 1723, aged 52. He married first, about 1695, PATIENCE BARNES, who died 11 Oct. 1708 in her 31st year. She was the daughter of Samuel Barnes of East Hampton and Patience Williams, who were married 9 Nov. 1676, she being the daughter of Robert Williams, a founder of Oyster Bay. The will of Patience Barnes, widow, of Southside, Cohansey, Salem County, N. J., signed 27 Dec. 1716, proved 12 Jan. 1716/17, mentions son-in-law Anthony Ludlam, husband of deceased daughter Patience. Anthony Ludlam probably had a second wife, ABIGAIL ———. He married third, on 20 Dec. 1716, MRS. REBECCA SHAW of East Hampton, widow of Richard Shaw who had died 18 Oct. 1708.

After the death of Anthony Ludlam; his widow removed with her son, Richard Shaw, to Southold, where she died 11 Sept. 1739 (Salmon Records). Anthony Ludlam was by trade a weaver, as is shown by a deed dated 13 Feb. 1691 when he called himself weaver when conveying to William Barker "my fifty of land in the Ox Pasture . . . . . as it fell by lot to my father Anthony Ludlam." On 8 Sept. 1701, Ephraim Edwards of East Hampton deeded to Anthony Ludlam, weaver, of Southampton, one-third part of a Montauk share that formerly belonged to William Edwards, deceased. The Southampton census of 1698 listed his household as made up of Anthony Ludlam and two Patience Ludlams, one evidently his wife, the other his daughter. The town estimate of 1700 puts his holdings at 88 pounds 10 shillings, over twice those of his cousin Henry Ludlam, the miller. He entered his earmark at Southampton, 10 Dec. 1702. He had rights in the Fatting Pasture at East Hampton in 1706. He was a trustee of Southampton in 1711 and 1721, an assessor in 1713 and 1719. He drew commonage lands in 1712 through rights from his father. On 30 June 1722, he and wife Rebecca witnessed the codicil to the will of James Cooper. The will of Anthony Ludlam of Southampton, signed 16 Jan. 1721/22, probated 29 Apr. 1724, names wife Rebecca; daughter Patience Shaw; daughter Phebe Haines; daughter Sarah Baker; son Samuel (heir and unmarried); four daughters, Patience, Phebe, Sarah, and Temperance (Temperance under 18); my brother-in-law, James Haines; my five children, Patience, Phebe, Samuel, Sarah and Temperance; executor, son Samuel. The will unfortunately is not available in the Hall of Records, New York City, so that uncertainty due to two different abstracts cannot be cleared up. The copy on the Surrogate's book ends "I appoint my well beloved friend Jonah Rogers and Thomas Reeve my brother-in-law James Haines and John Mitchell of the town of Southampton to be overseers in trust . . . . . and to be aiding and assisting my executor." An abstract among the Moore Papers in the New York Gen. and Biog. Society library made many years ago names brother-in-law James Davis in place of James Haines, notes son Samuel as under age and puts an entirely different interpretation on the names of the overseers: "I appoint my well beloved friends Jonah Rogers and Thomas Reed and my brothers-in-law James Haines and John Whitehell of Southampton to be overseers." Moore probably misread the name Haines as Davis in the body of the will. James Haines died 6 Sept. 1732, his wife Sarah died 21 Dec. 1721. There is nothing to indicate whether she was a sister of Anthony Ludlam or of one of his wives. Thomas Reed married Sarah, daughter of Isaac Corey and Sarah Ludlam (mother of Anthony) and therefore was a brother-in-law of Anthony Ludlam, his wife being Ludlam's half-sister. The question of the relationships of the overseers to Ludlam is involved and perhaps should wait until the original will is brought out of the vault for review.

Children of Anthony^{3} Ludlam and Patience Barnes:*

47. i. PATIENCE^{4}, b. ca. 1696, m. RICHARD? SHAW.
48. ii. PHEBE^{4}, b. ca. 1698, m. JOHN HAINES.
49. iii. SAMUEL^{4}, b. say 1700, appears on a Montauk cattle list of 1727. He drew Southampton lands in 1727, '38, '39, '47, and '60. He and wife Mary sold Millstone Swamp farm to son Anthony 21 Nov. 1753. On 1 Sept. 1754, he gave son Anthony his dwelling house, etc., "by Wading Place." His wife was MARY SAYRE. Will of Daniel Sayre of Southampton, dated 22 May 1747, proved 16 June 1748, names dau. Mary Ludlow and her three daus. Mary, Sarah and Phebe. Will of Samuel Ludlam, farmer, of Southampton, dated 18 July 1766, proved 13 Feb. 1767, names wife Mary, daus. Mary, Phebe and Sarah. Exs. Thomas Tappen and Ananias Cooper. Samuel Ludlam's son Anthony^{5} predeceased him. Anthony^{5} Ludlam signed his will 21 Mar. 1758. It was probated 2 Apr. 1758. It names wife Zerviah, sons Anthony and Samuel, daus. Mary and Ann (both under age).

50. iv. Anthony^4, b. ca. 1700 d. 16 May 1716 in 17th yr. (g. s.) (perhaps a twin of Samuel).
51. v. Sarah^4, b. say 1702, m. 16 Nov. 1721, Nathaniel Baker.
52. vi. William^4, b. ca. 1704, d. 27 Apr. 1716 in 13th yr. (g. s.).
53. vii. Temperance^4, b. ca. 1705, prob. m. Ellis Cook. "Temperance, wife of Ellis Cook d. 9 Dec. 1723 ae 18" (g. s.).

23. Joseph^3 Ludlam (Anthony^{2}, William^{1}), born ca. 1675 at Southampton, evidently was the Joseph Ludley from Suffolk County who served in Major Peter Schuyler's Provincial troops in 1692. His mother and step-father Isaac Corey had removed to Hashamomack, Southold, by 16 Mar. 1694/95, when Corey's holdings were recorded as abutting on the lands of Thomas Ryder. Ryder's will, signed at Southold 11 Apr. 1699, mentions sons Joseph, Providence and Jeremiah, daughters Elizabeth wife of Joseph Ludlam, Abigail wife of William Downes and Hester and Mehitabel Ryder. Presumably Joseph Ludlam made his home with his step-father until his removal to Cape May, Cape May County, West Jersey where he entered his earmark, 13 Mar. 1696/97. He later transferred his earmark to his son Anthony who in turn transferred it to his son Providence Ludlam.* Joseph Ludlam's first purchase lay at Ludlam's River, 20 miles northeast of Cape May Point. Stephens' History of Cape May County states that "he was attracted by the whaling then being developed at Town Bank and Barnegat." His home lay on what is now the dividing line between Upper and Dennis townships but was then merely in the Northern Precinct. About 1719 he purchased Ludlam's Beach and stocked it with cattle, the descendants of which were there as late as 1873. He also purchased from Col. Jacob Spicer, about 1720, a tract of 500 acres on Dennis Neck, price 163 pounds. In 1733, he divided a part of his large holdings between his sons Anthony and Joseph. His name appears frequently in Cape May records. On 30 Dec. 1721, he inventoried the estate of Nathaniel Norton, son-in-law of John Parsons from East Hampton. The Diary of Aaron Leaming (Pennsylvania Historical Society) states that Joseph Ludlam died in February 1761, "aged near 86." Stephens states that he died at the home of his grandson Providence Ludlam who was living in Cumberland County.

The will of Joseph Ludlam, Sr., of Cape May, signed 3 Jan. 1760, proved 12 Feb. 1761, names grandson Joseph Ludlam, eldest son of son Joseph, deceased; Carmon Smith "married to one of my relatives, to his wife Lydia"; sons Isaac and Jeremiah Ludlam; daughters Abigail Scull, Elizabeth Cresse; grandchildren, sons of my son Anthony, deceased; children of my son Joseph; daughter Phebe Youngs, wife of Henry Youngs, Esq. Executors, Providence Ludlam, Abigail Scull and Elizabeth Cresse. (Abigail Scull because aged and infirm could not appear at the accounting.) The estate inventoried 267 pounds. Joseph Ludlam laid the foundation for a family affluence that continued for several generations in many lines of descent.

* Dr. Beasley in his history of Cape May County (1857) states that Joseph Ludlam arrived there about 1692, a date widely quoted, and probably about four years too early. The Ludlam Family of Cape May (1878) by Anthony J. Ludlam states that Joseph Ludlam went to Cape May from Southampton and refers to him as "Joseph son of Anthony Ludlam, the original settler in Southampton."

Children of Joseph^3 Ludlam and Elizabeth Ryder:

54. i. Abigail^4, b. say 1696, m. ——— Scull.
55. ii. Anthony^4, b. say 1698. According to the Ludlam Family of Cape May, he was the most enterprising and successful of Joseph's children, but there are indications that both Joseph and Jeremiah were equally successful. He is credited with developing water rights and mill property in which the records show his brothers also had a hand. His wife Priscilla was a dau. of Judge Henry Youngs, of Cape May. Will of Anthony Ludlam of Cape May, signed 15 Jan. 1736/37, proved 21 July 1737, names wife Priscilla, daus. Elizabeth (a certain scarf that was her Aunt Sarah's), Jude, son Providence (to get the mills when 20 years old), sons Reuben, Anthony and Joseph (to get their shares when 20). Sons Providence, Anthony, Reuben and Joseph. Exs., wife Priscilla and father Joseph Ludlam. Witnesses, Joseph Ludlam, Deborah Young and Henry Young. His wid. evidently m. (2) Charles Dennis of Cape May, for Dennis in his will dated 9 Jan. 1747, names wife Priscilla and son-in-law (step-son?) Joseph Ludlam.
56. iii. Joseph^4, b. say 1700, m. (1) 1: 23: 1732, Alathea Smith. He m. (2) 8: 17: 1747, Abigail Young. He was a justice of Cape May Co. by 1739. Will of Joseph Ludlam, Jr., of Cape May, yeoman, signed 6 Feb. 1753, proved 2 Mar. 1753, names wife Abigail, children Joseph, Henry and Thomas, and daus. (not named), all children under age. Exs. Daniel Norton, John Mackey, Providence Ludlam. Inv. 2-5 May 1753 puts est. at 558 pounds and names children in this order: Joseph ("Tertius"), eldest son; Phebe, eldest dau.; Thomas, second son; Alathear, second dau. (she m. Jonathan Smith of Cape May, 26 Dec. 1761); Esther, third dau. On 22 Jan. 1757, Joseph Ludlam, son of Anthony Ludlam, was on the bond of the adm'r. Providence Ludlam.
57. iv. Isaac^4, b. say 1702, entered his earmark at Cape May 24 Apr. 1731. This later was the earmark of Hezekiah Scull. He was living when his father made his will in 1760.
58. v. Jeremiah^4, b. ca. 1709, d. 20 Jan. 1777, aged 68. He m. Martha Stites. Will of Benjamin Stites of Cape May, signed 6 Sept. 1732, names dau. Martha Ludlam and makes son-in-law Jeremiah Ludlam an overseer of two youngest sons. Mrs. Martha Ludlam died 15 Dec. 1773, aged 62. He appears many times in Cape May recs., and in the Memoirs of Aaron Leaming. Will of Jeremiah Ludlam of Cape May, gentleman, signed 28 Dec. 1773, proved 28 Jan. 1777, mentions two granddaus., Ruhamah Stillwell, wife of

He often heard him say that it was Joseph Ludlam first broke through the Cedar Swamp.'' Jeremiah^4's second wife (marriage license 16 Feb. 1774) was Anna Whildin, probably a widow.

59. vi. ELIZABETH^4, she or her mother witnessed the will of David Hildreth Sr., of Cape May, 31 Dec. 1731. She m. (license 1 Sept. 1740) THOMAS CRESSE.

about 1679, not 1684. His will was dated 12 Sept. 1670, and the inventory of his estate was taken 8 Nov. 1679, of course after his decease [New England Hist. and Gen. Register, vol. 81, p. 133; verified in the original New Haven Probate Records, vol. 1, part 1, p. 182]. The death of a wife Elizabeth is not recorded on 9 Oct. 1660, nor on any other date; and the given name of his first wife has not been found in any original record. His marriage to his second wife, Margaret, widow of Robert Pigg, is on record, and occurred 8 Oct. 1661.

In 1646 "Bro. Tharpe" gave testimony as to directions which "his m^r" John Johnson had left regarding his property at the time of Johnson's removal from New Haven to Massachusetts [New Haven Colony Records, vol. 1, p. 272]. This indicates that William Tharpe came to New Haven as servant of John Johnson, one of the three Johnson brothers who were among the first settlers. Hence, his identification with the William Thorp who left England in 1635, aged 30, and with a wife and child, is most unlikely. Attention should also be given to the list of persons and estates, which the historian Atwater attributes to the year 1641, in which "Will Thorp" was credited with three persons in his family [New Haven Colony Records, vol. 1, p. 93]. This would be himself, wife, and eldest son Nathaniel, who had been baptized in New Haven in 1640.

The documentary evidence therefore indicates quite clearly that William Tharpe came to this country, probably with the original New Haven company in 1637, as servant of John Johnson, and hence unmarried at that time.

WILLIAM LUDLAM OF SOUTHAMPTON, LONG ISLAND

ADDENDA

The publication of the article on the Ludlam family by Conklin Mann, Esq., has brought further data from others who are interested in this difficult family. We are indebted to Mr. H. Clifford Campion, Jr., of Swarthmore, Penn., for the following addenda relating to the children of JOSEPH^3 LUDLAM [No. 23, see vol. 20, pp. 28-30]:

i. ANTHONY^4, b. say 1697 or 1698; d. July 1737 leaving a will which names wife PRISCILLA. The only authority for the statement that Priscilla was dau. of Henry Young of Cape May is the account of the family written about 1840 by Providence Ludlum Sheppard, a great-grandson of Anthony and Priscilla, copied by Anthony J. Ludlam of Springfield, Ill., who published his genealogy in 1878. This statement is doubted by Mr. Campion on chronological grounds. Priscilla m. (2) by license dated 18 May 1739 (in which she is called "Beulah"), John Cresse, who d. intestate in 1745; and she m. (3) Charles Dennis, who d. testate, May 1749. Charles Dennis was son of Jonathan and Rachel Dennis of Salem County. In his will he mentions wife Priscilla, also his step-sons Joseph Ludlam and John Cresse, as well as his own son Charles.

ii. ABIGAIL, b. about 1700; d. after 1765; m. about 1720, JOHN SCULL, JR., son of John and Mary Scull of Great Egg Harbor, Gloucester Co., N. J.

iii. ISAAC, b. about 1704; married ABIGAIL ———. Providence L. Sheppard stated in his account that Isaac removed to Albermarle, N. C. Search of the counties abutting on Albermarle Sound failed to disclose his presence there, but he was of Brunswick County, N. C., when he made his will, 24 Oct. 1769, in which he names ten children [Deed Book A, p. 135, Wilmington, N. C.]. He was of New Hanover County, N. C., on 1 Mar. 1758, when he sold land to John Stanton, probably his son-in-law.

iv. JOSEPH, b. about 1706; d. testate, early in 1753; m. (1) (by license, 23 Jan. 1733) ALETHEA SMITH, dau. of Thomas and Alethea (Dayton) Smith; m. (2) (by license, 17 Apr. 1747), ABIGAIL YOUNG, dau. of Henry and Abigail (Corson) (Hand) Young. His widow m. (2) (by license, 27 June 1758), Jonathan Smith, son of William Smith, Sr., of Cape May County.

v. JEREMIAH, b. about 1708; d. and m. twice as stated.

vi. PHOEBE, b. about 1710; d. 23 Aug. 1766 ae. 56 (g.s., First Baptist Church Yard, Cape May Court House); m. (1) (by license, 20 Sept. 1729), ELISHA ELDRIDGE, b. abt. 1703, d. testate in 1732, son of Ezekiel and Sarah; m. (2) DANIEL NORTON, b. abt. 1704, d. 21 Apr. 1755 in 51st yr. (g.s.), son of Nathaniel; m. (3) (by license, 28 Dec. 1757), HENRY YOUNG, b. 1690, d. 8 Apr. 1767 in 77th yr.

vii. SARAH, b. about 1713; d. 28 June 1732; m. in 1731, as his first wife, RICHARD TOWNSEND, JR., b. 11 June 1710, son of Richard and Millicent (Somers) Townsend.

viii. ELIZABETH, b. about 1716; living 1761; m. (by license, 1 Sept. 1740), LEWIS CRESSE.

Mr. M. E. Tracy, of Los Angeles, Calif., makes an interesting comment on the parentage of SAMUEL^4 LUDLAM of Morris County, N. J. [No. 27, see vol. 20, p. 20]. Mr. Mann pointed out that Samuel must be placed as son of John [No. 9] or of Joseph [No. 10], and supposed that Samuel married a Creed, as he named a son Creed Ludlam. However, Samuel Ludlam m. 7 June 1716, Hannah Drake, at Jamaica, L. I. This appears to push the Creed connection a generation further back. Since John^3 Ludlam [No. 9] married Ruth Carpenter, while the wife of Joseph^3 Ludlam [No. 10] is unknown, Mr. Tracy suggests that Samuel^4 was son of Joseph^3, and that Joseph^3 may have married a Creed. William Creed was buried at Jamaica, 5 Mar. 1717; and "Old" Mrs. Creed was buried there, 31 Jan. 1726. So far as dates are concerned, a daughter of this couple could have married Joseph^3 Ludlam.

nitch in local history when her husband became a prisoner of the British. She successfully enlisted General Washington's aid in a prisoner exchange which included her husband, who was in a ship in New York harbor.

The Ocean City chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, is named for Sarah, while the youth chapter is named for Rebecca Stillwell.

DOCTOR ON HORSEBACK

Cape May County's first active physician was Dr. John Dickinson, born October 11, 1758, in Alloway, Salem County, in the ancestral home of the Dickinsons on a 500-acre tract deeded by John Fenwick to his granddaughter Ann Adams Dickinson.

During the Revolution the young doctor served as a surgeon's mate on two United States vessels, part of a fleet under Commodore Hazelwood, by whose direction he selected a house at Red Bank, New Jersey, and fitted it out as a hospital. For his services, General George Washington presented John Dickinson with a sword which is now in the county museum at Cape May Court House.

In June 1786 Dr. Dickinson moved from Salem County to Cape May County, where he set up a practice from Cape Island to Beesley's Point, traveling the country trails on horseback, sleeping under the open sky or wherever he could find shelter for the night.

Cash was scarce so his services were paid for with farm products such as salt pork, dried beef, fish, wheat, potatoes, and berries. At times the doctor resembled a peddler as he made his way home with various items tied to his saddle. For calls on main roads Dr. Dickinson secured a black rig like that used by most early American doctors. His was filled from time to time with sacks of potatoes or boxes of salted fish.

Dr. Dickinson served as county collector from 1805 to 1813 and was appointed colonel of Cape May Militia on November 25, 1806. The doctor and his wife Mary Powers Dickinson are buried in the old Baptist Cemetery at Cape May Court House.

CAYS OF THE CAPE

Off the mainland of Cape May County there is a group of island resorts that could be termed the Jersey cays. Resting on two of these islands, Five Mile Beach and Seven Mile Beach, are the resorts of Sea Isle City, Stone Harbor, Avalon, Townsend's Inlet, Corson's Inlet, and the various Wildwoods.

In 1692 Joseph Ludlam, son of Anthony, who came to this country from Yorkshire, England, purchased a strip of land he called Ludlam's Island, which he stocked with cattle and sheep. It is recorded that livestock roamed these islands as late as 1875 and that some of the first visitors were bitten by them.

Because of numerous wrecks in the area the government established lifesaving stations No. 33 at Ludlam's Beach and No. 34 at Townsend's Inlet. In 1880 the captains and crews arrived to live on the island nine months of the year. A lighthouse was erected at Ludlam's Island in 1885 and served until 1923, when it was replaced by an automatic steel tower.

Actual development of Ludlam's Island began in 1880, when it was purchased by Charles Kline Landis, who had established Vineland in Cumberland County. He christened his new development Sea Isle. On May 1, 1882, the community became a borough with Martin Wells as first mayor.

During the next few years many hotels were built, including the Continental, a five-story structure with giant parlors and the only steam-operated elevator in Cape May County. Never a financial success, it was demolished in 1921 after being closed for eight years.

An interesting note on the early houses of the island is that many of them were moved from the Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, where they had been on display as the latest in architectural design.

One of the unusual beach buildings was the Excursion House,

Old sea captains of Goshen were Robert Baymore; William M. Burk; Enoch, Joseph and Thomas Camp; Thomas Coombs; James and William F. Cullen; Henry and Jesse H. Wesley; Libran C., Philip H., and Warren Grace; Samuel Hearon; John C. Malachi; Ezekiel High; Alex R. and Isaac Ludlam; George S. and Thomas Peterson; William B. Powell; Edward Price; Griffin Smith; Lewis S. Stillwell; Thomas H. and James Swain; John Thompson; Hugh, Maurice, and B. Frank Tomlin; John D. and Luke Vanaman; and David Warwick.

While shipbuilding was an important part of Goshen's past, her most notable contribution to history was made by two famous sons, both named Grace. If you pass along Bay Shore Road, Goshen, stop for a moment at the monument erected by school children of the area honoring the first Grace, John, who served in the Revolution. He enlisted on June 12, 1777, in Captain Samuel Flannagan's company 3d New Jersey Battalion, 2d Establishment, and fought in the battles of Brandywine, Monmouth, Bennington, and Yorktown. He carried a letter written by General George Washington to General Gates commending Grace as "a trusted scout." Grace was discharged on June 5, 1783; he died on April 11, 1835, and is buried in Union Cemetery, Dennisville.

The second Grace of note arrived on August 27, 1876, in the home of John W. and Rebecca Grace. John W. Grace was the proprietor of Goshen's general store and hoped some day his son would take over the business. As he grew older Eugene Grace worked in the store, but his sights were set far beyond the dusty roads of Goshen. Eugene Grace entered Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Pennsylvania, from which he graduated in 1899.

The sprawling Bethlehem Steel Company fascinated him. To aid in the payment of his college tuition, Grace worked for the company as a laborer. By 1906, with his school years behind, Grace became general superintendent of the Bethlehem Company. On April 1, 1913, he became president, serving until 1946. He was chairman of the board until his death on July 25, 1960.

Several times when financial troubles threatened the Goshen Methodist Church, which he had attended as a young boy, Eugene Grace came to the rescue. The Grace homestead in Goshen is now the church parsonage, so designated by Grace for as long as the church exists.

Goshen no longer has its shipbuilding industry; it is a community of homes.

THE GREAT STONE HARBOR RAILROAD

Today railroading involves a mass of facts, figures, computers, and charts. Not so in the busy, brawling days of the Stone Harbor road as sweating crews cussed and dragged the road across the meadows from Cape May Court House to the new beach island development of Stone Harbor.

The man who mapped the road through the woods and marshes in 1912 was Morgan Hand II of Ocean City, a young surveyor fresh out of Rutgers College with a lot of theories and no practical experience in railroading. Most of the facts of the following story of this railroad were supplied to me by Hand, who later became president of the Cape May County Historical Society.

The Stone Harbor Railroad was conceived by the South Jersey Realty Company of which David Risley was president and his brothers Howard and Reese directors. They considered the road necessary in the promotion of their newest real estate venture—Stone Harbor. The company had gone through a bad experience with a deal called Isle of Pines in the Caribbean, so when it came to the railroad the brothers were gambling for high stakes with low cards, inexperience, and little cash.

Standard rails supplied by the foundries were of 30-foot lengths. The Risleys learned there were a number of rails stacked on the meadows near Atlantic City. Once used by the major lines in their resort runs, these were considered "exhausted" and could be bought cheaply. Hand later discovered that the real reason for the bargain was that the rails were 45-foot lengths, which made for expansion, which could easily cause derailments in hot August days if a speed of more than 60 miles per hour was attempted. Since there was little chance of developing such speed on the 4½-mile stretch of the Stone Harbor road, the rails were purchased.

With no money to buy regulation ties, the company decided to marsh, is of sandy loam." That is how a writer described Dennis Creek (Dennisville) in 1834.

Dennis Creek, the name the village carried during its heyday, was settled in 1726 by ~~two sons of Cape May County pioneer~~ Joseph Ludlam: Anthony on the north side of the creek, Joseph on the south side.

Shipbuilding flourished there in the early 1700s and reached its peak in 1883, when eleven ships were in the stocks at one time. Because of the narrowness of Dennis Creek, boats had to be launched sideways.

The community's glory as a shipbuilding center was described for me by Mrs. Ralph Goff of Ocean View. Mrs. Goff was born in South Dennis and took part in many homecoming celebrations held when captains returned from the sea after long voyages.

A boat launching was the signal for a general picnic, with banners flying and bands playing. When the boats hit the water, according to Mrs. Goff, they created a wave that drenched all observers on the opposite bank. "These unfortunates," she recalled, "were mostly foreigners (visitors from other parts of the county) who had not been told the perils of Dennis Creek boat launching. At times it was a toss-up to tell which held the most interest, the launching or who got wet." Although she refused to admit it, Mrs. Goff gave me the feeling that the foreigners were placed on the off-side position just to add hilarity to the occasion.

Although it may now seem strange that ships were launched ten miles from the open bay, there were two good reasons for the procedure: Builders were close to their wood supply there, and the rushing tides nearer the bay completely flooded the area, making industry there impossible.

Among the ships of record built on the creek were the J. G. Fell, the Harry Diverty, the James Diverty, the Eva Diverty, the Jennie R. Diverty, the Macrus Edwards, the Ella Mathews, the Gregory Matthews, and the Mary C. Carrow.

Principal shipbuilders were Richard Leaming and Jesse Diverty, who were also prominent in the social life of the town. As can be seen from the above list, Diverty usually named his ships for someone in his family. He began his shipbuilding business in 1865 and launched more than thirty vessels.

During the War of 1812 there was a small log fort on the creek, but today there is nothing to show its former existence.

Packets made regular trips between Dennis Creek and Philadelphia. Ships that navigated the creek were mostly 3-masted, 350-ton craft which often had to be helped along by crews pulling ropes from the shore.

Mrs. Goff recalled that a sail down the creek was a major undertaking. If the wind failed, one spent the night on the creek. As the packets were not equipped with staterooms, everyone slept on deck. Mrs. Goff took many such trips with her father, one of the captains of the area.

Women of the village would give her lists of what they wanted from Philadelphia. "I shopped for most of the things in stores on Second Street, Philadelphia. Usually by the time I again got aboard ship I had to have several people help me with the bundles," she said.

Recollections of Dennis Creek as a post village have been provided by Walter Robinson of Delsea Drive, Dennisville, who said that the earliest mention of stagecoaches to the village that he could find was in the Daily Aurora of Philadelphia for June 13, 1801: "A stage starts from Cooper's Ferry on Thursday in every week and arrives at Cape Island on Friday. One leaves Tuesday from Cape Island, by way of Dennis Creek, and arrives in Philadelphia the following day."

The article also gave directions to "gentlemen who travel in their own carriages": "From Philadelphia to Glass-house [Glassboro] nineteen miles; Lehman's Mill, forty-one miles; Dennis Creek sixty miles and to pitch of the Cape eighty miles. Those who choose water conveyance can find vessels almost any time."

The community of Dennis Creek had the first postoffice in Cape May County, established on October 9, 1802, with Jeremiah Johnson as postmaster. On January 12, 1854, the name of the community and the postoffice was changed to Dennisville. On February 23, 1873, South Dennis had its own postoffice with Robert Hutchinson as postmaster.

Cape May, and my father was very sick, and the third day, 1695, departed this life at the house of Shamgar Hand. Then I went to Long Island, stayed that summer, and in the winter I went a whaling again, and got an old cow and a calf. In 1696 I went to whaling again and made a great voyage, and in 1697 I worked for John Reeves all summer, and in the winter went to whaling again. In 1698 worked for John Crawford and on my own land, and that winter had a sore fit of sickness at Henry Stites', and in the year 1700 I lived at my own plantation and worked for Peter Corson. I was married in 1701, and 1703 went to Cohansie and fetched brother Aaron. In 1706 I built my house. Samuel Matthews took a horse from me worth £7 because I could not train. In 1707 we made the county road."

Leaming was a strict Quaker at that time. The record of the Ludlams is contemporaneous with the growth of Cape May, the earliest records of the county showing this family to be among the first settlers.

The Ludlam name belongs to Yorkshire, England, where for many years the family had precedence. Anthony Ludlam, progenitor of the race in America, came from England in the earliest days, and by 1640 had become a member of the whaling colony in Southampton, Long Island.

Joseph, son of the New England settler, came to Cape May about 1692, attracted hither by the whaling, then being developed at Town Bank and Barnegat. Settling on the division line between Dennis and Upper, he purchased Ludlam's Beach, now Sea Isle City, and stocked it with cattle, the descendants of which survived until about 1875. He acquired 500 acres in Dennis Neck, paying £163 for his purchase.

Arthur Cresse came from Long Island about this time also. John Stillwell came about the same time from there.

By an act of the Assembly November 12, 1692, Cape May county was regularly instituted, as follows:

"Whereas, this province hath formerly been divided into three counties for the better regulation thereof; and whereas Cape May (being a place well situated for trade) begins to increase to a considerable number of families; and there being no greater encouragement to the settlement of a place

THE FIFTH GENERATION

THE DESCENDANTS OF PETER AND DEBORAH CORSON

2111 DAVID CORSON is listed as the eldest son of Christian the second. It is very probable that he was the David Corson, who is recorded as taking the Oath of Allegiance, "to the government established in this state, under the authority of the people," on May 27, 1778. David Corson is recorded in his will, dated Mar. 14, 1799, and proved Feb. 25, 1805, as a resident of Middle Township, Cape May County. The fact that he did not live in Upper Township, where the majority of the Corson families lived, not unlikely accounts for his name not appearing on the several family trees of the descendants of John and Peter the first. The name of his wife was not learned; she was not mentioned in his will and had no doubt died previous to the making of same. One son:

21111 David Corson, Jr., died previous to the date of the will, by which the names of his other children were established as follows:
21112 Parmenas Corson;
21113 Lydia Corson;
21114 A Daughter, who was then deceased, but who left sons:
  211141 David Ferguson; and 211142 Henry Ferguson.

The eldest son, David, Jr., was identified by his will, proved Apr. 1, 1797.

2112 ABNER CORSON, born June 25, 1729, son of Christian the second, also lived in Middle Township. He was one of the patriots, who took the Oath of Allegiance to the new Colonial government, on May 27, 1778. He married, first, Jane Cresse, born Apr. 9, 1735, whose identity was established from an old memorandum book, the property of Allan Douglas, and also by an old deed, which, since its execution, has been in possession of Abner's descendants and is now owned by Miss Arthelia Jane Mathis, of Ogden, Utah. The connection in the old deed: "This Indenture, made the 26th day of Oct. 1764, between Jacob Spicer Jr., of the County of Cape May in the Province of New Jersey, of the one part, and Jane Corson, late daughter of James Cresse, and present wife of Abner Corson, and Elizabeth Ludlam, late daughter of the said James Cresse, and present wife of Anthony Ludlam, both of the same place, of the other part," etc. The said James Cresse died intestate, and his parents were Arthur Cresse, and his wife, Mercy ——————; the said Arthur's parents were Arthur Cresse and his wife, Mary ——————. So Jane (Cresse) Corson was the great granddaughter of Arthur Cresse, a pioneer from Long Island to Cape May about 1692, he whom Jeremiah Basse required to send up to the Manor of Coxe Hall, in the name of the West Jersey Society, on the day before each Christmas, "two fat hens or Capons, as a quit Rent."

She was probably a great great granddaughter of the emigrant to Rowley, Mass., William Cresse, who married Ann Haddon, and lived at Stanford, Conn., a brother of Mighill Cresse, emigrant to Rowley, Mass., who lived at Ipswich, Mass. The children of Abner and Jane Corson were born as follows:

21121 Christian Corson, born June 27, 1757;
21122 Judith Corson, born Aug. 8, 1759;
21123 Jane Corson, born Apr. 10, 1763, died Nov. 23, 1814;
21124 Edith Corson, born May 20, 1765;
21125 Abner Corson, Jr., born Nov. 9, 1767;
21126 Nathan Corson, born Apr. 8, 1770.

It seems very probable that Abner married, second, Mary Smith, whose marriage is recorded on Apr. 5, 1773. Abner Corson, Sr., died between the date Sept. 22, 1798, when his will was executed, and May 28, 1799, when it was proved. He was evidently a man of some property, the amount of the inventory, made by Phillip Cresse and Stephen Hand, Apr. 10, 1799, totaling £1,135.0.1.

2113 CHRISTIAN CORSEN, III, is listed as the third son of Christian, II. He probably married Margaret Hildreth and had at least one son:

2113 Christian Corson, Jr.,

whose estate was administered May 5, 1829, by Cresse Townsend as assignee.

2114 NATHAN CORSON, listed as the fourth son of Christian, the second, was a bachelor. On page 228, Steven's History of Cape May County, he is said to have been "a man of wealth, who owned what is now the Mount Vernon neighborhood." The statement on the same page that Judith (Corson) Eldredge was a daughter of Nathan Corson is in error as she was the daughter of Abner and Jane (Cresse) Corson, and is so mentioned in Abner's will. An abstract of Nathan's will follows:

Dear Ms. Wooley:

Sorry to be so late in answering your letter of 4 January 1997. My son tried to contact you by E-mail some time ago, but said the address was incorrect [wooleyf@iline.com]. I then got involved in getting ready to go to Fla. and in the meantime things got pushed back.

I do not have a Ludlam/Ludlum line, but do have several NJ lines that intermarried into the Ludlum line, but no direct line for me. Your letter states you have early info. and I am enclosing a copy from the History of Cape May, which states that Anthony was first to America and his son Joseph was in Cape May in late 1600s. This book is not indexed, but I went through it and came up the following names. These names were in CM from 1733 to 1884 -- starting with 1884 and going back to 17733 some of the names were:Thomas, Reuben, Clinton H., Christopher, Jesse D., Furman, Samuel, George, Richard, Albert, Henry, Joseph, Jeremiah, and Anthony and Isaac. I have no info of genealogical help on these families except some of the offices they held and some info included in the history.

Some gen. I gleaned from my files: Phoebe Ludlam [d/o Joseph and Elizabeth (Ryder/Rider) Ludlam] was b. 1710, d. 1766, md. 1729 Elisha Eldredge (my line) [s/o William Eldred/Eldredge and Ann Lumpkin, d/o Wm. Lumpkin] was b. 1701, d.1732 Cape May, NJ.
None of your names are mentioned in my files. There were Scudders at CM however. You do not say where Obadiah was born or died. Do you know of a NJ connection? I am sorry I cannot be of any help to you.

Am enclosing a page from 100 YEARS WITH THE CORSON FAMILY which gives another female line Elizabeth Ludlam, d/o of James Cresse and w/o Anthony Ludlam. Some of the NJ families "went west" into Ohio and Illinois The Cresses and the Corsons being two of the families who did. A Ludlum family also went, I think, this is from memory. I just don't have a ludlum line. My families are all NJ, NY lines. I need more info from you to determine what you really want.

THE ROYAL ANCESTRY OF THE LUDLOWS

By Meredith B. Colket, Jr., of Washington, D. C.

[Compiler's note: The contributor wishes to acknowledge his indebtedness to Mr. Herbert F. Seversmith of Washington, D. C., for valuable suggestions and criticism.]

The Connecticut lawmaker, Roger Ludlow, is among a select group of early New England colonists who can claim descent from a Norman King of England, that is, from William the Conqueror or one of his successors on the English throne. Contrary to popular belief, descents of New England colonists from the Plantagenet Kings of England are rare. To find such royal lines we must turn to the leading men and women of the colony, those of high social standing and background. Governor Thomas Dudley, John Humphreys, Rev. Peter Bulkeley, Sir Richard Saltonstall, President-Regent Jeremiah Clarke, Rev. John Oxenbridge, Hon. Herbert Pelham, Anne Hutchinson, Edward Carleton, Obadiah Bruen, Governor Richard Bellingham and Richard Williams were of Plantagenet descent or married into families of this royal strain.[1] We do not mean to imply that all the royal lines in print dealing with the above are correct, but rather, as a minimum qualification, that at least one known line appears to be sustained by competent evidence.[2] Each and every line may continue to be questioned until each is thoroughly analyzed. These and persons closely related to them comprise the majority of those now known to be descended from the English royal house. Instances may be found in New England colonization where men of yeomen stock were of royal descent, but if so, they are exceptional.

We have singled out for careful scrutiny the royal ancestry of one of these men, Deputy-Governor Roger Ludlow of Connecticut, close kin of the Ludlows of New York and Virginia. Various versions of a Ludlow royal pedigree have been printed in different publications and accepted. On the other hand, they have been vigorously challenged by certain scholars and branded false. Our problem is squarely put. According to original source material, is Roger Ludlow of royal descent? Basing our examination solely on books (all of which are printed in England) and reasoning therefrom, we answer clearly in the affirmative.[3] Roger Ludlow is a direct descendant of King Edward I. But first let us disentangle certain genealogical myths. Banks in his "Dormant and Extinct Baronage," Vol. 1, p. 445, claims that the first William de Windsor (an ancestor of the Ludlows) married Edith, daughter of William, Earl of Poictou, brother of King Henry II of England. This is derived from an ambiguous phrasing in Collins's Peerage of England (1812 edition, Vol. 3, p. 644), concerning a relationship of Gilbert Fitz Reynfred to this William de Windsor. The authority quoted by Collins, Rymer's Foedera, Vol. I, p. 206, does not admit of this construction. This William de Windsor married Hawisia, probably de Lancaster.[4] On the other hand, Roger Ludlow was not a descendant of Ralph, Earl of Westmoreland, and thus Edward III, for Anne (Neville) Mountjoy, the alleged ancestress of Roger and wife of Walter Lord Mountjoy, died without issue. (Cokayne, Complete Peerage, 2nd edit.). The children of Walter Blount Lord Mountjoy, were by a former wife.

[1] This list, which probably is incomplete, does not include relatives of the above or men who left no American issue.

[2] This discussion ignores those lines that have not stood the test of critical examination.

Roger Ludlow was a son of Thomas Ludlow of Wiltshire, as proved by the Dinton, co. Wilts, parish register and other records. The ancestry of Thomas to Edward I appears by connecting the 1531 Visitation of Somerset, sub Luttrell, with the 1565 Visitation of Wiltshire, sub Ludlow. The Visitation of Somerset omits one generation, but the line is printed correctly in Tuckett "Devonshire Pedigrees," based perhaps on an earlier Visitation. In brief, the parentage of each member of the chain is verified as follows (see pedigree chart): 11. by will of father; 10. by will of father; 9. by will of father; 8. by will of mother; 7. by inquisition post mortem of half-brother; 6. by inquisition post mortem of son; 5. by inquisition post mortem of mother (reported); 4. by will of mother; 3. by will of father; 2. by Dictionary of National Biography. The line now appears, supplemented by the supporting evidences. Emphasis has been placed on the obscure parts of the line, while it has been deemed advisable merely to quote, in brief, standard authorities, such as Cokayne's Complete Peerage, which are based on source records. Books of such a nature are of high scholarship and can be referred to easily by interested persons.

Will dated 11 August 1319. Item—"I bequeath to Sir (Monsieur) Hugh de Courtenay one thousand marks, the which I owe him for the marriage of Margaret, my daughter, to his son and heir." The will is quoted in full in "American Historical Review," Vol. I, April, 1896; above reference on page 424.

(3) Sir Hugh de Courtenay, Earl of Devon, b. 12 July 1303, d. 2 May 1377; m. 11 August 1325 (cont. 1314/15), Margaret de Bohun, d. 16 December 1391. She was daughter of above.

Evidences:

Hugh (de Courtenay), Earl of Devon, and Lord Courtenay, b. 12 July 1303, served in the Scottish and French wars; Knight Banneret 20 January 1327; repulsed the French descent on Cornwall 1339; was summoned to Parliament 23 April 1337, whereby he is held to have become Lord Courtenay. He was Chief Warden of Devon 1373. He m. 11 August 1325 (cont. 1314/15), Margaret, 1st surv. daughter of Humphrey (de Bohun), Earl of Hereford and Essex, by Elizabeth, daughter of Edward I. He d. 2 May 1377, aged 73, and was buried in Exeter Cathedral. His widow d. 16 December 1391. Will dated 28 January 1390/1, pr. 1391.

—Cokayne, "Complete Peerage," 2nd Ed., Vol. IV, p. 324.

Will of his widow dated 28 January 1391 (P. C. C. 2 Rous). "Margaret de Courtenay, Countess of Devon. My body to be buried in the Cathedral Church of Exeter near the body of my lord and husband, and I desire that there be no other hearse than plain bars to keep off the press and people, and only two tapers of five pound each, one at my head, the other at my feet, without any torches or other lights . . . . . . to my daughter Lutterell."

—Nicolas, "Testamenta Vetusta," p. 129.

(4) Sir Andrew Luttrell of Chilton, co. Devon, d. between 1378 and 1381; m. in 1359, Elizabeth Courtenay, who d. 7 August 1395. She was daughter of above and widow of Sir John de Vere.

Evidences:

Andrew Luttrell established the fortunes of his family by his marriage with Elizabeth, relict of Sir John de Vere, son of the Earl of Oxford. Lady Elizabeth Vere was a widow in 1350. On the occasion of her marriage to Andrew Luttrell, in the summer of 1359, Edward III gave them an annuity of £700 for their lives, in aid of the maintenance of their social position. In 1361, Sir Andrew Luttrell and his wife went on a pilgrimage to the famous shrine of Santiago de Compostella. The annuity of £700 was confirmed by Richard the Second in 1378, and renewed in favor of Lady Luttrell in 1381, her husband having died in the interval. The most important pecuniary transaction of Lady Luttrell was her purchase of the reversion of the castle of Dunster, the manors of Kilton, Minehead, and Carhampton, for five thousand marks. Dying at Bermondrey on the 7th of August 1395, she was buried in the Benedictine Church of St. Nicholas at Exeter.

—See Lyte, "A History of Dunster," Part I, which is fully documented.

Discussion:

The inquisition post mortem of Elizabeth, which confirms the descent, is referred to in Lyte's work but has not been published. It is dated 1395. 19 Richard II, no. C. 48.

(5) Hugh Luttrell of Chilton, co. Devon, b. ca. 1364, d. 24 March 1428, aged about 64; m. perhaps about 1385, Catherine (Beaumont) Streche, daughter of Sir John Beaumont of Devonshire, and widow of John Streche. She d. 28 August 1435.

Evidences:

Hugh Luttrell, son of Sir Andrew and Elizabeth, was born about 1364. He became heir to the small paternal estate at Chilton in Devonshire. He was for a time an esquire in the household of John of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster. Sir Hugh was at Colon in 1400 and later was appointed one of the ambassadors to treat with the Commissioners of the King of France. He was elected one of the knights of the shrine for Somerset. Sir Hugh died on the 24th of March 1428, aged about sixty-four. A monument in memory of Sir Hugh Luttrell and his wife seems to have been erected on the north side of the chancel of Dunster Church. Both their effigies, made of alabaster and relieved with gold, have been sadly mutilated in the course of centuries. Sir Hugh's wife was Catherine, daughter of Sir John Beaumont of Devonshire, and relict of John Streche. Her first marriage seems to have taken place at Christmas 1376. She died on the 28th of August 1435, and was presumably buried at Dunster.

—Lyte, "A History of Dunster," 1909. Part I, pp. 78-105. The account is thoroughly documented from record sources.

Sir Andrew Luttrell of Chilton, temp. Edward III, m. Elizabeth, daughter of Hugh Courtenay, Earl of Devon (had) Sir Hugh Luttrell a privy counsellor of Dunster Castle and Chilton m. Catherine daughter of Sir John Beaumont (had) Elizabeth, wife of John Stratton of Weston super mare.

(6) JOHN STRATTON of London (in 1430 lord of Weston, co. Norfolk), citizen and merchant (b. ca. 1390?), d. after 14 June 1448; m. ca. 1421, ELIZABETH (LUTTRELL) HARLESTON, daughter of above and widow of William Harleston, whom she married shortly after 24 April 1406. She was living 4 Oct. 1438 when she was constituted executor of will of Peter Maudby, Armiger, of Sperham.[5]

Evidences:

Inquisition taken at Melforth (sic) in co. Suffolk, 3 November, 21 Edward IV (1481), before Thomas Rookwade, Esq., Escheator - - - and the jurors say that Sir Hugh Luttrell, Knight, was seised of the manor of Debenham, called Blodhall and of the market of Debenham to the said manor belonging, and held the same of John, Duke of Norfolk, by the service of 2d by the year at the Castle of Framlyngham. So seised, the said Sir Hugh, by charter dated 5 April, 7 Henry IV (1406), gave the same to William Harleston and Elizabeth, his wife, daughter of the said Hugh and to their heirs lawfully begotten. For default of such issue, the same to remain to the heirs of the said Hugh for ever. If the said Hugh or his heirs pay to the executors of William Harleston 125 marks sterling then it shall be lawful for the right heirs of the said Hugh for default of heirs above named to re-enter the said moiety - - - - - Up to this time the money has not been paid, by pretext of which gift the said William and Elizabeth were seised in their desmesne as of fee tail and had issue, William Harleston. The said William (the father) died so seised, and the said Elizabeth survived him and married John Stratton, Esq., and they had issue, Elizabeth. And afterwards the said Elizabeth (the mother) died, and then the said premises descended to the said William as son and heir of the said Elizabeth, who accordingly was issued of the same in fee tail. So seised, the said William Harleston by his charter dated 24 November, 23 Henry VI (1444), granted the said moiety of the said manor to John Andrew(s), Robert Drie of Ipswich, and John Blogatt of Yaxle for the use of the said William - - - - William Harleston died 4 November, 20 Edward IV (1480). John Godard of Framlyngham, survivor, is next heir.

Discussion:

John Stratton, lord of Weston, co. Norfolk, who married the widow of William Harleston, appears identical with the John Stratton, citizen and mercer of London, because of (1) the London merchant's close connection with Norfolk, but, (2) particularly because of the London merchant's connection with William Harleston. William Harleston died, it is said, in 1419, but certainly between 1418 and 1423; and, as John Stratton married Harleston's widow, we can approximate John Stratton's date of marriage. The confirmation by charter of manors in the custody of John Stratton refers undoubtedly to the manor of Weston, co. Norfolk, because the Peter de Ty mentioned in the Patent Rolls was owner of a dwelling house there 24 March 1332, about the time the manor was confirmed to him, and it is known from other sources that John Stratton held the manor of Weston. Moreover, the name Tys-Hall in Weston, as mentioned in Blomefield and noted above was probably derived from Peter de Ty, or his family.

(7) John Andrews of Baylham, co. Suffolk, b. perhaps ca. 1415, d. ca. 1456, buried at Stoke near Ipswich, co. Suffolk; m. ca. 1439, Elizabeth Stratton, daughter of above. Her will was dated 18 October 1474, and pr. 11 December 1474.

Evidences:

John Andrews married Elizabeth, daughter and coheir of John Stratton, and died about 1456, leaving two daughters and coheirs. Elizabeth married to Thomas Windsor of Stanwell, co. Middlesex, and Anne, the 2nd wife of Lord Chief Justice Sulyard, and the manor passed to Thomas Windsor.

Will of Dame Elizabeth Andrews, dated on the Feast of St. Luke the Evangelist, 1474 (proved 11 Dec. 1474, P. C. C. Wattys). My body to be buried in the Chancel of the Church of St. Denys Bakchurch, in London, - - -, I will that of my two rings with diamonds, the one be sent to our Lady of Walsingham and the other to our Lady of Walpit; Item, I will that as soon as God sendeth me to His bliss out of this world, costs be done of my burying by the advice and discretion of my surveyor and mine executors, and that great part of the host be done to poor bedrede people, most need having, to the honor and pleasure of God; to Brydget Wyndesore, my daughter Elizabeth's daughter, my white bed with all the hangings of the same, to William Wyndsore, a red bed of worsted, with all the hangings; to Elizabeth Wyndsore and Alice Wyndsore, my daughters' daughters, two pieces of silver with coverings, and fifteen spoons of silver, to my daughter Elizabeth a powder box of silver; I will that ten pairs of sheets of the best be divided between my two daughters; - - I bequeath to my two daughters, Elizabeth, the wife of Thomas Wyndsore, and Anne, the wife of John Suliarde. And I make and ordain my executors, John Suliarde, Thomas Wyndesore, Elizabeth and Anne, their wives.

(8) Thomas, Lord Windsor, of Stanwell, co. Middlesex, b. ca. 1441 (age 11 on 21 January, 1451/2), d. 29 September 1485; m. by 1467, Elizabeth Andrews, daughter of above, who survived him and m. (2) Sir Robert Litton, Knight, of Knebworth, co. Herts.

Evidences:

The inquisition taken after [the] decease [of Miles de Windsor, father of Thomas] at Colbrook, in co. Bucks, January 21st, 1451/2, shows that he died on September 30th preceding, leaving Thomas de Windsor, his son and heir, then of the age of 11 years.

Thomas Windsor, Esq., was summoned on June 5th, 1483, to prepare and furnish himself to receive the noble order of knighthood at his coronation, intended to be solemnized on the 22nd of that month, at Westminister. But Richard, Duke of Gloucester, causing the young king, his nephew, to be murdered, the degree of knighthood was not conferred on him. It may be justly said that he was a person of piety, good morals, and of a sound judgment, with a tender care for his wife and children. . . He was buried . . . under a cornice, a raised tomb, on which were the figures of a gentleman and his lady, inlaid in brass, with an escutcheon of their arms; but are now torn off, as also the inscription.

Will dated 13 August 1479 (proved 15 February 1485/6, P. C. C. 14 Logge, quoted in detail in Collins's Peerage, (ed. by Brydges): "my body to be buried in the north side of the quer of the Church of our Lady of Stanwell afor the ysage of our Lady wher the sepultur of our Lord standeth, whereupon I will there be made a playn tombe of marble and of competent height. Elizabeth, my wife, or Andrews, my son, ordain and keep his obiit by note [the day and time of year he shall happen to decease on] with VI priests and three clerks in the said church of Stanwell yearly during the space of forty years next after his decease, to pray for his soul, his father's and mother's souls, John Andrews and Elizabeth, his wife's sisters, and the soul of Dame Allice Wiche. Elizabeth to have rule and oversight of his lordship and manor of Bailham during the non-age of William Windsor, his son."

—Collins's Peerage of England, ed. by Brydges, Vol. III.

Thomas died owning extensive lands and Inquisitions Post Mortem were taken in Middlesex, Hants, Surrey, Bucks and Berks. The inquisition taken in Middlesex reads in part: "Thomas Wyndesore, esq. Writ 30 September, inq. 1 February,

1 Henry VII. Under letters patent of license from King Edward IV; he enfeoffed Robert Grene, esq., John Holgrave, and Thomas Alberton of the under-mentioned manor, who by similar license re-enfeoffed him and Elizabeth, his wife, thereof, to hold of them and the heirs of their bodies, with remainder in default to his right heirs. He died 29 September last, leaving issue by the said Elizabeth, who survives, Andrew Wyndesore, his son and heir, aged 18 and more, Middx Manor of Stanwell, worth 10 marks, held of the King in chief as the castle of Wyndesore, by service of ½ of a knight's fee, and by service of rendering 16 s. 8 d. every 40th day to the castle-guard."

(9) Sir Andrews, Lord Windsor of Stanwell, co. Middlesex, and Bordsley Abbey, Worcestershire, b. between 1st of February and 1st of May, 1467, d. 30 March, 1543, buried at Hounslow, co. Middlesex; m. ca. 1490, Elizabeth Blount, b. shortly before 1471, died before her husband. She was daughter of Sir William Blount of Derby, by Margaret Echingham, and granddaughter of Sir Walter Blount, Lord Mountjoy.

Evidences:

"William Blount, 1st son and heir of Sir Walter Blount, Lord Mountjoy. He was Knight of the Shire for Derby 1467. He m. Margaret, daughter and eventually coheir of Sir Thomas Echingham of Etchingham. He died v. p. of wounds received at the battle of Barnet, 14 April 1471, when he fought for Edward IV. - - - William and Margaret had also two daughters (one of whom) m. Andrew or Andrews Windsor, 1st Lord Windsor."

—Cokayne, "Complete Peerage," 1st ed., Vol. IX, pp. 336-337.

Will of Andrews Lord Windsor dated 26 March, 1543, and proved 31 July, 1543 (P. C. C. 23 Spert). Andrews Windsor, of Stanwell, in the County of Middlesex, Knight, Lord Windsor. "My body to be buried in the choir of the Church of the Holy Trinity of Hounslow, in the said county of Middlesex, whether I decease within the realm or without, and to be placed between the pillars where my entire well beloved wife, Elizabeth Lady Wyndsore, lyeth buried. Also I will that my executor or next heir keep solemnly an obit yearly in the Church of Stanwell on the day of decease of my loving father, Thomas Wyndesore, Esquire, - - - for the space of fourteen years next after my decease with as many priests and clerks as by my father's will is directed - - - To my daughters, dame Elizabeth, wife of Sir Peter Vavasor of Spaldington, York; Anne, wife of Roger Corbet of Morton-Corbet in Shropshire, Esq.; Edith, wife of George Ludlow, of Hill-Deverill in Wilts, Esq; every of which I married in my life-time, and well provided for, desiring them to pray for my soul . . . and that the will of my loving mother, dame Elizabeth Litton, and the will of my lady, my wife, . . . be fulfilled."

—Nicolas, "Testamenta Vetusta," pp. 697-700.

Sir Andrews Windsor was made one of the Knights of the Bath in the tower of London, 23 June, 1509, on the coronation of Henry VIII. He was created a Knight Baronet for his valor at the Battle of Spurs in 1513, and summoned to Parliament in 1529 as Baron Windsor of Bradenham, Bucks. This was the parliament which reduced the lesser monasteries, and paved the way for the surrender of the rest. In 1544 he was keeper of the King's great wardrobe. The arbitrary conduct of bluff Henry is well displayed in the case of this unfortunate nobleman and his family estate of Stanwell. The information is given by Sir William Dugdale, who had it from Thomas, Lord Windsor, viz: "That after the dissolution of the great monasteries in 31 Henry VIII the King being informed by Cromwell and others who had been his chiefest agents in the work that the most likely means to secure them into the hands of the nobility and gentry by free gift, easy purchases or advantageous exchanges, the project so wrought with the King as he soon assented to put it into practice, and in order thereunto thought fit (among others) to engage this Andrews, Lord Windsor, to be a partaker. To which end, in 34 Henry VIII, he sent him a message that he would dine with him at Stanwell on a certain day, and accordingly came where he was magnificently entertained. Whereupon the King told him he liked that place so well that he was resolved to have it, yet not without a more beneficial exchange. And the Lord Windsor answering, he hoped his Highness was not in earnest, it having been the seat of his ancestors for many ages, and humbly begging he would not take it from him, the King with a stern countenance replied, 'It must be' commanding him on his allegiance to go speedily to his attorney-general, who would more fully acquaint him with his reasons for it. Being, therefore, afraid of his displeasure, he accordingly repaired to the attorney-general, who showed him a draught ready made of an exchange of his lordship and manor of Stanwell with its appurtenances, lying, as the patent sets forth, in the counties of Middlesex, Surrey, Buckinghamshire, Berkshire, and Southampton (by which the greatness of it may be in some sort discerned) in lieu of Bordsley Abbey with the lands and appurtenances thereunto belonging in Worcestershire, whereof, being constrained to accept of this exchange, he was commanded to quit Stanwell, though he had then laid in his Christmas provisions for the keeping of his wonted hospitality there. All of which he left in the house, saying, 'They should not find it bare Stanwell.' Yet the King in recompense made him keeper of his great wardrobe."

Discussion:

Since Elizabeth (Blount) Windsor was approximately fifty at the time of her daughter's birth, the marriage of George Ludlow with Edith, daughter of Andrews, Lord Windsor, had been seriously questioned. Evidence now presented clears up the controversy. Sir Andrews, Lord Windsor, in his will dated 26 March 1543, calls his daughter "Edith, wife of George Ludlow of Hill-Deverill in Wilts, Esq." George Ludlow declared before a Herald of the College of Arms in 1565 that his wife was "Edith, daughter of Sir Andrew Windsor, Knight, Lord of Stanwell, co. Midd'x." Thus positive contemporary evidence of the marriage appears in the records of both the Windsor and the Ludlow families, and the burden of proof must rest with the critic who tries to tear down the pedigree because of a possible chronological difficulty. Mr. Herbert F. Seversmith of Washington, in discussing the age of Edith's mother at the time of Edith's birth writes:

"Elizabeth Blount, wife of Andrews de Windsor, was born before the death of her father, William Blount, in 1471. (See Cokayne's Complete Peerage, 2nd Edition, sub Mountjoy). A study of the Blount family indicates that Elizabeth was born most probably in 1467 or 1468, which very consistently makes her either the age of her husband, or but one year younger. There are eight recorded children of this union. If the prolificity of the son William, second Baron Windsor of Stanwell, is any criterion (he had sixteen by one wife and two by a second), there were probably others who died young. The child-bearing period of Elizabeth (Blount) de Windsor terminated about 1513, in all probability, when she was approximately forty-five years of age, although she could have had children as late as 1520. Child-bearing of a woman this late in life is infrequent, though medical record attests that such can happen. It is an established fact that women who bear children continuously from the time of marriage are capable of bearing children for a longer period of time than otherwise could be the case. There are many instances of women bearing children in their late forties among the records of our New England colonists.

"According to the inquisition post mortem taken after the death of his mother, George Ludlow was born approximately in 1523, if he was forty in 1563. It is possible that this was an error for fifty and he was born in 1513, or the statement may have intended the meaning forty and upward (a common term on inquisitions post mortem) and George was born during the decade before 1523; or George may have married a girl older than himself. It is thus possible to fit in the dates of a chronology which, except for the evidence so specifically offered, would otherwise appear improbable." Possibly Sir Andrews de Windsor married a second and younger wife who was the mother of Edith, but a careful examination of his will and other record sources indicate that this is extremely unlikely.

(11) Thomas Ludlow of Hill-Deverill and Dinton, co. Wilts, gentleman, b. ca. 1550-55, bur. at Dinton 25 November 1607; m. ca. 1581 (eldest son born 7 September 1582) Jane Pyle, who was b. ca. 1560. Her will was dated 10 December 1646, and probated 6 July 1650. She was the daughter of Thomas Pyle (1623 Visitation of Wiltshire).

Evidences:

Will of Thomas Ludlow of Dinton, co. Wilts, gentleman, dated 19 November, 1607 (proved 8 June 1608, P. C. C. 61 Windebanck). "Daughter Anne under twenty-one, £100. Wife, Jane, annuity out of lands at Butleigh, co. Somerset. Gabriel, his son and eventual heir. Wife, household goods at Butleigh and at Warminster, Wilts, and appointed executrix. Brother, Sir Gabriel Pyle, Knight, overseer."

Will of Jane Ludlow of Baycliffe, Wilts, widow, dated 10 December, 1646 (proved 6 July 1650 by Phyllis Ludlow, executrix. P. C. C. 115 Pembroke). "To the poor of Maiden Bradley 20 shillings, and of Warminster 20 shillings, - - to my son Roger Ludlow, one of my wedding rings; and to my son George Ludlow, my other one. To Thomas one of the sons of my son Gabriel Ludlow, £5; to Francis, another of his sons, my nag colt and gilt silver salt; and to John, another of his sons, £10. To Ann, Elizabeth, and Sarah, daughters of my said son Gabriel, each £10. - - - daughter-in-law, Phyllis Ludlow."

—Schenck, "History of Fairfield," Vol. I, p. 318.

Discussion:

George Ludlow declared to the Herald of the College of Arms in 1565 (The Genealogist, Vol. 12) that he had a son Thomas. Col. Lemuel Chester, in a letter dated 19 November 1881, concluded there was little if any doubt that this Thomas was identical with the Thomas whose will was dated at Dinton, co. Wilts, in 1607. Dinton is a parish just ten miles from Hill-Deverill where Edmund, son and heir of George Ludlow, was lord of the manor. Thomas in his will, refers to property at Warminster, a parish three miles from Hill-Deverill. Jane, widow of Thomas Ludlow, resided at Baycliff, co. Wilts, and it is important to note in this connection the following from Hoare's "Ancient Wiltshire": "The Ludlows of Hill-Deverell held a lease of three lives in the Seymour Castle [at Baycliff]. Edward, Earl of Wiltshire, in 1602 [sic] sold the priory at Baycliff to Sir Edmund Ludlow of Hill-Deverell, Knight, it being then occupied by Jane, widow of Thomas Ludlow, by lease." This clearly establishes that Thomas, brother of Edmund and son of George, was identical with the Thomas, husband of Jane of Baycliff.

American Descendants

A discussion of the descendants of Thomas Ludlow is beyond the scope of this article and the reader is referred to Waters, Genealogical Gleanings, Vol. I, pp. 274-277, and The Virginia Magazine, Vol. 29, p. 350. For Roger Ludlow, see particularly Dictionary of American Biography and bibliography, The American Genealogist, Vol. 13, p. 113, and R. V. Coleman's brochures, Roger Ludlow in Chancery and Roger Ludlow Goes for Old England. For Sarah (Ludlow) Carter, see bibliography of Carter family in The Virginia Magazine, Vol. 32, p. 20. For Gabriel Ludlow, see New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, Vol. 50, p. 34.

Roger Ludlow's Wife

As the wife of Roger Ludlow has not been clearly identified in print, genealogical information about Roger Ludlow follows:

Roger Ludlow, bapt. at Dinton, co. Wilts, 7 March 1590, came to New England with the Winthrop Fleet, 1630; Deputy-Governor of Connecticut; returned to Great Britain in 1654, becoming a Commissioner in Dublin; died after 1664; m. Mary Cogan, born ca. 1604 (age 69 in 1623), bur. in Dublin as "Mrs. Mary Ludlow, wife of Roger Ludlow" June 3, 1664. [Visitation of Wiltshire, 1623, and Registers of the Church of St. Michael, Dublin.] She was dau. of Philobert Cogan of Chard, co. Somerset.

Some doubt has been expressed by scholars that Mary, dau. of Philobert Cogan, was identical with the wife of Roger Ludlow. The allegation is supported by the following: 1. Philobert Cogan, by will dated 10 Feb. 1640 (see Waters' Genealogical Gleanings), calls his dau. Mary Ludloe. Certainly Mary Cogan of Somerset married a member of this none-too-numerous Wiltshire family. 2. Roger's parents owned property at Butleigh, co. Somerset, about 15 miles from Chard, and Roger may have resided for a time at Butleigh. 3. Philobert Cogan in his will mentions a daughter Elizabeth Endicott. Now Gov. John Endicott who came to New England about the time of Roger Ludlow and who in contemporary records was called "brother-in-law" married in 1630, as his second wife, Elizabeth Gibson, supposed to be a widow. As the term brother-in-law was used loosely in the colonial period, it could easily imply that their wives were sisters. That Roger Ludlow and John Endicott could be otherwise related is unlikely.

ANCESTRY OF MARY BEANE, WIFE OF DANIEL CLARK OF TOPSFIELD, MASS.

Contributed by Walter G. Davis, Esq., of Portland, Maine

In the Towne Family Papers, published in Vol. XVIII of the Historical Collections of the Topsfield (Mass.) Historical Society, is a letter, stated to have been "copied off by Samuel Clarke for his Friend Mr Jacob Towne Junr of Topsfield A.D. March 31, 1721." It is dated at "London the 27 Apl 1670," addressed to "Brother and Sister Clark," signed by Humphrey dence, Bahamas Group, whither he was taking passengers for settlement.[1]

MARY AND JOHN, Thomas Chubb, Master. She sailed from Plymouth, England, March 20, with one hundred and forty passengers from the counties of Somerset, Dorset, and Devon under the patronage of the Reverend John White. She arrived at Nantasket May 30, and all the passengers settled at Mattapan which was renamed Dorchester.[2] There is no list of the emigrants, but the following persons are believed to have come in this ship according to evidences from contemporary authorities. All settled at Dorchester, Massachusetts.[3]

Search for Passengers of Mary + John 1630 Vol 2

ROGER LUDLOW (1590-) He led the first group of the Dorchester people to Windsor in 1635. Granted 122 acres s. of Samuel Allen & w. of Henry Wolcott, w. of the Rivulet. On the east end he built a "stone house" which was "drowned very deep" in the March 1638/39 flood. In 1642 he sold this land to Mr. William Whiting of Hartford and it was worked by the latter's servant, John Dumbleton. When Whiting died in 1649, his widow sold it to John Bissell. Roger Ludlow, in the begining, opposed the move of the Dorchester people to Connecticut. But when he failed to become Governor of Massachusetts in 1635, he turned his attention to Connecticut, with the hope he could become the Governor there. In March 1635/6, the General Court of Massachusetts chose 8 men to govern the Connecticut Colony for one year. Two of these men were Roger Ludlow & William Phelps. In April 1646 the court requested that he draw up a new system of laws which became the historic Constitution of Connecticut, after which, over one hundred years later, the U.S. Constitution was patterned. Ludlow laid out some lots for himself in Uncoway , and in Apr. 1640, he established a town there, named Fairfield. He moved there later, about 1648, and took with him George Hull, William Hill and several other families. He was Deputy Governor of Conn. in 1639, 1642, and 1648.

JOHN MOORE (1615-1677) Granted a lot, 165 ft. wide on the west side of the Rivulet, s. of his father, Thomas Moore and n. of Mr. John Branker, on present Broad Street. His first house was flooded in Mar. 1638/9, and he built another one on higher ground. He built another house in 1664 which still stands today on Elm Street and is a remodeled private residence. His mother died in 1639 and his father moved in with him. When his father died in 1645, John owned both adjoining lots. On 11 Jan. 1651/2, he was ordained Deacon of the church. In 1661 he bought the lot of John Witchfield, south of him, which was later occupied by the Grace Protestant Episcopal Church. In 1675 he was taxed for having a family, a horse and 2 oxen. In 1667, John was one of the three men, including Simon Wolcott and Capt. Newberry, who laid out the lands of Massaco (Simsbury). About a year after his death in 1667, 25 men met at the house of his son, John Moore, Jr., and they "adjusted the terms of the settlement (Simsbury)". Two years later, nearly all of these men had moved to Simsbury. The house of John Moore, Jr. was built in 1675, and it is still standing today on Broad Street. The outside appears original and it is a dentist's office.

GEORGE PHELPS (1605-1687) Granted a lot in 1638, 140 ft. wide, on the flood plain, n. of Henry Wolcott, and s. of John Porter. He built a house there that burned in 1640. He sold this land in 1660, without a house, to Simon Wolcott. The present library of the Loomis-Chaffee School (Prep), now occupies this land. He also had a "planting lot" east of the Conn. River, s. of Henry Fookes and n. of Thomas Dewey. His first wife died in 1648 and he married the widow of Thomas Dewey. Then he moved into the Dewey homestead, the first lot north of the Palisado, s. of Aaron Cook. In 1651, he bought half of Henry Wolcott's thousand young fruit trees, for which he paid 2 pence apiece in wheat and peas. In 1658, at age 53, he was one of the 37 members of a "troop of horse", under Capt. John Mason. He moved to Westfield, Mass. about 1670, with his second wife and children, Isaac (age 49) of Westfield, husband of Ann Gaylord, Abraham (age 45) of Windsor, husband of Mary Pinney (He had been raised by his uncle, Abraham Randall of Windsor), Joseph (age 40) of E. Windsor, husband of Hester Hosford, Jacob (age 38) of Westfield, husband of Dorothy Ingersoll, John (age 36) of Windsor, husband of Sarah Buckland, and Nathaniel (age 34) of Westfield, husband of Eunice ________.

WILLIAM PHELPS (1599-1672) Granted a lot in 1635, 100 ft. wide, next to Bray Rossiter, west of the Rivulet. This land was flooded in March 1638/9, and he moved to higher ground, above the First Meadow, the most northerly lot on the west side of the Rivulet. He had purchased this land from a sachem in 1635. This land later passed to his son, Timothy. He had a "plantation lot" east of the Conn. River, 560 ft. wide, s. of George Hull and n. of Thomas Holcomb. In 1635 he was one of the eight men, including Roger Ludlow, chosen by the Court of Massachusetts, to govern the new Connecticut colony for the first year. In 1641, the General Court appointed he and Mr. Webster of Hartford, to recommend how "lyers" were to be punished. After this, the court punished "lyers" with fines or "body correction". He was a Magistrate, 1639-1643 and 1656-1662. He died at age 73 and was survived by his second wife and children, William, Jr. (age 52) of Windsor, husband of SArah Pinney, Nathaniel (age 45) of Northampton, Mass., husband of widow, Elizabeth Copley, Joseph (age 43) of Simsbury, husband of Hannah Newton, Timothy (age 33) of Windsor, husband of Mary Griswold and Mary (age 28), wife of Thomas Barber, Jr. of Simsbury.

FEKE FAMILY.

Lieut. ROBERT FEKE of Watertown, N. E., and Wm. Palmer of Yarmouth, and Judith his wife, son and daughter of James Feke, late of London, Goldsmith, deceased, and Tobias Feke, aged 17, make Tobias Dixon, of London, their attorney in the settlement of the estate of James, 1638 to 41.

LUDLOW FAMILY TREE

THE LUDLOW PIONEERS

But suppose you never lived there, that it was your great-grandparents who had treked across the wilderness to make a new home; clearing the forest for farmland, damming a creek for water power, and then writing back home of the opportunities in this new land "out west," and as friends and relatives became fired with the pioneer spirit they, too, came.

The little community grew, and your great-grandfather, a God-fearing man and believer in education for the young, saw that a house of worship and a schoolhouse were built—nucleus for a little village and community life.

And, gratefully, the town fathers named it for the pioneer who had done so much for the welfare of all.

If the name was Smith, then they named the settlement Smith Corners; if Jones, then Jonesville. For instance, take the town where I was born and named, as I was told by my maternal grandmother, Lucinda Oyer—Oyers Corners, in honor of her father, John Oyer, one of the pioneers in Jackson County, Michigan. Later, and to my regret, the name was for some unknown reason, changed to Springport.

Now, it may be that you, like myself, are interested in genealogy—your family history or "tree," then the place, especially the old graveyard, is truly hallowed ground.

Last summer, while on a vacation trip from Michigan to New York State, my dream of seeing what to me is an historic spot was realized.

Nestled among the hills of the lovely Finger Lakes Region, about eight miles north of Ithaca, N. Y., and close to the east shore of Cayuga Lake, I found the little village of Ludlowville, founded by my forefathers.

THE LUDLOW PIONEERS

From D.A.R. records, we learn that the history of the Ludlow family (or Ludlum, as the name was spelled by some branches) goes back to England. I quote: "Stokesay Castle in south Shropshire was the home of the Ludlows for ten generations. William the Conqueror granted the manor of Stoke to the DeLaceys who, retaining overlordship, placed their vassal, the Norman knight Pecot de Say, in possession, after whom the Manor was named—Stoke-de-Say.

"About six miles south of Stoke-de-Say stood Ludlow Castle, another ancient seat of the family (now in ruins)."

From other records, we learn that as early as 1649 an adventurous member or so had sailed to the "new world," settling in Boston.

A little later others came and lived near the town of Southampton, on Long Island, and in New York Town, now New York City.

All down the line, the Ludlows have been strictly religious, and faithful churchgoers. So I visited Old Trinity Church in New York City not only to see the historic landmark but to verify the story handed down that our branch of the family had attended there.

It was true, for in the churchyard I found graves, some even bearing the same given names as those of my grandfather's family; and on display in the church a plaque to the memory of one Thomas Ludlow "for his long and faithful service" as vestryman.

According to family records preserved in the DeWitt Historical Society of Tompkins County Museum at Ithaca, N. Y., the branch of the family to which I belong treked on in 1789 to what became the Finger Lakes Region in western New York State.

My great-grandfather, Thomas Ludlow, known as Major Thomas after having attained that rank in the war of the Revolution, now 26 years of age and having "heard tell" of the rich land and the water facilities "way out west" in the Military Tract, decided to see for himself.

With his young wife, Julia; his father, Henry, and his uncle, Silas, with their families, set out overland, as other pioneers had done before them and many more would do, with their ox teams pulling farm wagons that carried all their belongings and their wives and children.

Tied to the back of each wagon with a rope, a tired cow protestingly ambled along the rough, narrow trail while chickens squawked in their crates.

From a diary kept of that journey, I quote:

"Left Standing Stone(now Athens, Pa.) Feb. 20, 1792, arrived at head of lake (Cayuga) on the 23rd, stayed here (evidently the settlement that became Ithaca) until March 16th, when we proceeded up the lake on the ice. After about 8 miles we came to Salmon Creek, which flows into the lake; here we decided to land and, upon reaching the shore, passed up the ravine along the creek a short way until we came to some falls, which would give water power for a mill."

Of necessity, these hardy pioneers immediately erected a rude shelter of trees and branches, then set about the task of building cabins of logs as they cleared land for spring planting.

The cabins, or huts as some called them, were going up; soon the families would be be settled in their new homes in the

V) George, son of William (2) Ludlow, rried Edith, daughter of Andrew, Lord ndsor, of Stanwell, county Middlesex. She d in 1543. Children: Edmund, eldest and heir; Thomas, mentioned below.

VI) Thomas, son of George Ludlow, made his will, November, 1607, describing himself as of Dinton, Wiltshire, and it was proved June 8, 1608. He bequeathed to daughter Anne, wife Jane, son Gabriel, and made his "brother" Sir Gabriel Pyle, knight, his executor. His wife survived him forty years, making her will December 10, 1646, bequeathing to sons Roger, Thomas and Francis, Ann Elizabeth and Sarah, children of her son Gabriel, daughter-in-law, Phyllis Ludlow, who was made executrix. Thomas Ludlow married Jane, sister of Sir Gabriel Pyle. She was a daughter of Thomas Pile, of Babton, Wiltshire, who married Elizabeth, daughter of Rad. Laugrish, of Boodon, son of ——— Laugrish (Laudgridge), of Somersetshire. The arms of the Pyle family: Argent on a cross gules, a martlet argent, between four passion nails, gules impaling, or, on a bend azure, three pheons or. The regicide, Edmund Ludlow, was son of Henry, grandson of Edmund, brother of Thomas. Children of Thomas Ludlow: 1. (VII) Hon. Roger, son of Thomas Ludlow, was one of the assistants or magistrates selected in 1630 for the Massachusetts Bay Colony, and he sailed from Plymouth, March 20, 1630, in the ship "Mary and John," with Rev. John Warham, Rev. John Maverick, Henry Wolcott and others. They landed at Hull, moved up the Charles river to Watertown, but eventually settled at Dorchester. August 20 following he was one of nine to attend the first general court in the colony, and he was appointed one of the three first justices of the peace. He continued in the office of assistant, though his views were not in accord with the majority. He was granted a hundred acres of land, November 7, 1632, between Masquantum and Chappell and the mouth of the Napansett river. In 1634 he was elected deputy governor. He supervised the building of the fort on Castle Island, later called Fort Independence. In 1636 he led a party to Windsor, Connecticut, and was the leader in establishing that town. He and four others held the first general court at Newtown or Hartford, April 26, 1636. He framed the first written constitution of Connecticut. In 1639 he was elected deputy governor of Connecticut. He founded the town of Fairfield and was indefatigable in his efforts to promote the welfare of the colony he established there. He was thrice deputy governor and several times commissioner to the United Colonies of New England on occasions of importance. He was annually chosen one of the magistrates of the colony and was not only first judge of the highest court of Fairfield but after the organization of the town its first military commander. He was the first lawyer who came into Connecticut and one of the greatest who ever lived in the state. In his unpretentious home at the corner of Ludlow and Windsor streets he compiled a code of laws, which many years afterward was destined to rank him among the leading statesmen of the age in which he lived. At the time of the threatened war with the Dutch in New York he became involved in political controversy and was even charged with being an enemy of the commonwealth. Finally, in disgust, he left the colony which he had done so much to build up, and returned to England. For nearly two centuries the belief prevailed that he went to Virginia and spent his days in seclusion there. He undoubtedly went there to visit his brother George, but soon afterward went to Dublin, Ireland, where he followed his profession as a lawyer. After the death of Cromwell he removed to Hollyhead, an island in the county of Anglesia, North Wales, a parliamentary town of considerable importance and the nearest British seaport to Dublin, Ireland.

Roger Ludlow married a sister of Governor John Endicott. One of his children was born at Windsor and most of his children at Fairfield. Children: Jonathan, Joseph, Roger, Anne, Mary, Sarah, married in England Rev. Nathaniel Brewster (see Brewster III).

BARTHOLOMEW William, immigrant ancestor, with his two brothers, Henry and Richard, came to Boston, September 16, 1634. William at the age of about thirty-two was appointed to the general court in 1635 and several times after also. He served later as town clerk at Ipswich, and was one of the seven chosen men of the town. He was also deputy of Salem with his brother Henry, and in 1651 he was chosen on a committee. In England he married Ann Lord. They were members of the Congregational church of Ipswich, of which he was a clerk for over thirty years. It is supposed that William and his brother were disowned for religious dissensions and came to America to establish themselves. He died January

New Brunswick, was descended from Gabriel Ludlow, born at Castle Cary, Somerset County, England, who arrived in New York on Nov. 24, 1694, became a successful merchant, built and owned vessels engaged in the coasting trade, and obtained a royal patent for 4,000 acres on the west bank of the Hudson in what is now Orange County, then known as the Rockland Tappan tract. His son Gabriel married Frances Duncan and became the father of George Duncan Ludlow [q.v.], and of Gabriel George Ludlow. By his second marriage he was the father of Daniel Ludlow [q.v.]. On Sept. 3, 1760, Gabriel George (the subject of this sketch) married Ann Ver Planck and established himself at Hyde Park near Hempstead, Long Island, on an estate of 144 acres, which he valued at two thousand pounds sterling in his claim for damages before the Loyalist commissioners at Saint John in 1787. He was governor of King's College, colonel of militia, and justice of the peace in Queens County. During the Revolution he commanded the third battalion of De Lancey's Long Island brigade of loyal Americans, in which he held a colonel's commission at the close of the war. At various times his battalion was stationed at Brookhaven, Lloyd's Neck, and Flatbush on Long Island. He was included in the act of attainder passed by the legislature of New York on Oct. 22, 1779. His property was confiscated and sold for the benefit of the state.

In 1783, before the evacuation of New York by the British armies, he sailed for England. After a short residence there, he was given a grant of land at Carleton in the newly created province of New Brunswick. The royal instructions to Lieut.-Gov. Thomas Carleton named him a member of the first council of the province. He was sworn in on Nov. 22, 1784, and held the position until his death. He was also a member of the first city council of Saint John, was the first mayor of Saint John from 1785 to 1795, and was the first judge of the Vice-Admiralty Court from 1787 to 1803. After Carleton embarked for England in 1803, as senior member of the council, he administered the government of New Brunswick until his death, under the title of President of His Majesty's Council and Commander-in-Chief of the Province.

LUDLOW, GEORGE DUNCAN (1734–Nov. 13, 1808), jurist, was the son of Gabriel and Frances (Duncan) Ludlow. At first an apothecary, he abandoned this venture, retired to his estate near Hempstead, Long Island, adjoining that of his brother Gabriel George Ludlow [q.v.], and studied law, in which profession he met with immediate success. In 1768 he became a member of the governor's council in the colony of New York. The next year, he was named by Governor Colden as one of the four justices of the supreme court of the colony. When, in 1778, the chief justiceship became vacant, he was disappointed at not receiving the vacant post and resigned. In order to appease the angry jurist, whose many friends were influential, the governor gave him the positions of master of rolls and of superintendent of police for Long Island, which together were of much greater pecuniary value than the chief justiceship. Like his brother Gabriel George Ludlow and his half-brother Daniel Ludlow [q.v.], he was a Loyalist during the Revolutionary troubles. He signed the address to General Howe upon his occupation of New York City and supported the administration of Gov. James Robertson. He barely escaped from the colonials who broke into his house and, in 1779, was attainted by the New York legislature and lost all his property by confiscation. On June 19, 1783, he sailed for England.

He was appointed by the Crown as the first chief justice of the new province of New Brunswick and became a member of the governor's council. He took his oath of office in the fall of 1784 and continued on the supreme bench until his death. He was not popular with all classes. James Glenie, a radical reformer elected to the lower house in 1791, described him as "the ignorant, strutting Chief Justice" (Hannay, post, I, 213). A disagreement of the court in a slave case of 1800 was anything but satisfactory. The chief justice believed that, as there was nothing contrary to slavery in the laws of the province, slaves might be held, and one other judge concurred. The remaining two judges held that as slaves could not be owned in England, slavery could have no legal existence in New Brunswick. Although his opinion was sustained by the King in council, he received much abuse for his decision of 1805 that there were no exclusive private fishing rights in navigable waters. In March 1808 he suffered a paralytic stroke, and he died at "Spring Hill," his estate of 1500 acres near Fredericton. He was survived by his widow Frances (Duncan) Ludlow, his cousin, whom he had married on Apr. 22, 1758, and by a son and two daughters.

LUDLOW, NOAH MILLER (July 3, 1795–Jan. 9, 1886), actor, theatrical manager, author, was born in New York City, the son of John and Phebe (Dunham) Ludlow, and a descendant of Gabriel Ludlow who emigrated to New York in 1694. At an early age the boy was placed in a mercantile house. During the summer of 1813, after the death of his father, he went to live at his brother's home in Albany. He was irresistibly attracted to the stage and in Albany he became acquainted with some actors and was soon playing small parts. In the spring of 1815 he was engaged as a member of Samuel Drake's company, who were to travel to Kentucky, giving performances at towns along the way. By the middle of August 1815, they had reached Pittsburgh where they played until about the middle of November. Traveling by flat-boat down the Ohio River from Pittsburgh to what is now Maysville, Ky., thence by wagon, they arrived at Frankfort, after many thrilling experiences, and opened their season there in early December. After a barn-storming tour through Kentucky to Nashville, Tenn., Ludlow married there on Sept. 1, 1817, Mary (Maury) Squires (or Squire). He had left the Drake company in June of that year and had formed a partnership with two fellow actors. They took with them such members of their troupe as cared to go, and opened in New Orleans on Dec. 24, 1817. These were the first performances given in English in New Orleans by a professional company, according to Ludlow's autobiography.

For several years Ludlow traveled in the South, sometimes managing his own company, but more often acting under the management of others. In many towns in which he appeared, no professional performances had ever been given. On June 29, 1826, he made his début in New York as Young Wilding in a one-night performance of The Liar at the Chatham Theatre. He reappeared in New York at a benefit at the Park Theatre on July 15, 1828, and in the fall of the same year his own company played at the Chatham. After this, he presented his company in Mobile, Louisville, Cincinnati, and St. Louis. In the fall of 1835 he formed a partnership with Sol Smith [q.v.] which lasted till 1853. During this partnership, Ludlow assisted in the management of theatres in Mobile, St. Louis, Cincinnati, and New Orelans, where the local stock companies supported as visiting stars at frequent intervals the famous actors of the day. Ludlow himself occasionally found time during this period to act. Some of his best-known parts were Rolando in The Honeymoon, Young Marlowe in She Stoops to Conquer, Scamper in The Promissory Note, and Doctor Pangloss in The Heir at Law. From 1853 until his death he lived in retirement in St. Louis, occasionally appearing at benefit performances and engaging in literary work. His book, Dramatic Life as I Found It (1880), is well known. He also compiled A Genealogical History of the Ludlow Family (1884) and wrote a "sketch or tale," "Manatua, or the Spirit of the Glen." As a player he is said to have been "unquestionably a general actor of considerable merit" (Ireland, post, p. 614). As a manager, with his partner, Sol Smith, he blazed the trail of the drama in what was then almost a wilderness.

LUDLOW, ROGER (fl. 1590–1664), colonial lawmaker, was baptized at Dinton, Wiltshire, England, Mar. 7, 1590, the son of Thomas and Jane (Pyle) Ludlow. The family, which was typical of the west country gentry, had first risen to prominence under Henry VIII. Of Roger's early life we know little beyond that he entered Balliol College, Oxford, in 1610, and two years later was admitted to the Inner Temple for the study of law. At the meeting of the General Court of the Massachusetts Bay Company held in London, Feb. 10, 1630, he was elected an Assistant of the company; and on Mar. 20 sailed from Plymouth on the Mary and John, known as "Mr. Ludlow's ship," arriving at Massachusetts Bay on May 30, where he became one of the founders of Dorchester and took an active part in the early government of the colony. In 1634 he was elected deputy-governor. The following year he threw in his lot with the colonists who were making settlements along the Connecticut River, and at Windsor, on Apr. 26, 1636, presided, under a commission from Massachusetts, over the first court held in Connecticut. He is credited with having drafted the Fundamental Orders adopted by the colony in January 1638/39 which, embodied with some additions and changes in the Charter of 1662, remained the basis of Connecticut government until 1818. In 1646 the General Court requested him "to take some paynes in drawing forth a body of Lawes for the gouernment of this Cōmon welth"; the result was "Ludlow's Code" or "The Code of 1650," the first gathering together and codification of the Connecticut laws which had been enacted previous to that date.

Meanwhile, as a direct result of the Pequot war, and probably as part of a well-planned policy of expansion against the Dutch, Ludlow had, in 1639, planted a settlement at Fairfield, whither he removed and from which town he was annually elected for the next fifteen years either as magistrate or deputy-governor, and during the years 1651–53 as commissioner of the United Colonies of New England. In 1654, owing either to irritation at the refusal of the colonies to back up his proposed expedition against the Dutch at Manhattan or because of a tempting offer from the Cromwellian government for his services at home, he suddenly returned to England, and in the autumn of that year we find him in Dublin as a member of a distinguished commission for the hearing and determination of claims in and to forfeited lands in Ireland, which was then undergoing the rigors of the Cromwellian Settlement. This office, together with others of high honor, he held until the collapse of the Commonwealth in 1660. That he continued to reside in Dublin until 1664 (when he was seventy-four years of age) is evident from various documents. When or where he died is not known. His wife, Mary Ludlow, died in Dublin in 1664.

That Ludlow was of quick temper and blunt speech is amply attested; that these qualities seriously affected his career may be doubted—despite the statements of those early biographers who knew nothing of his life subsequent to 1654. That he was honest, capable and public-spirited to a high degree is obvious from the esteem in which he was held by his contemporaries. His return to England may be interpreted in the same light as that of the Mathers and many another who, from 1642 to 1659, left America to serve the Commonwealth in England, coming back later to reap fame in America; only Ludlow did his great work before he left and he did not, so far as is known, return.

LUDLOW, THOMAS WILLIAM (June 14, 1795–July 17, 1878), lawyer and financier, was born in New York City, the second son of Thomas Ludlow, a well-known architect. Both his father and his mother (Mary Ludlow, a first cousin of her husband) were members of an old and prosperous New York family, whose founder, Gabriel Ludlow, had emigrated to the city in 1694 from Somerset, England. The family was strongly Episcopalian, and Thomas William was a faithful and generous supporter of his church throughout his life. A precocious boy, at the age of sixteen he graduated in the class of 1811 from Columbia College, of which he was later trustee (1833–36). Thereafter, he studied law in the office of Martin Wilkins, a leader of the bar of that day, a study interrupted by a short service in the New York militia during the War of 1812. Quite as important in the formation of his character and his mind was his constant association at home and among family friends with the best that the city offered socially and intellectually. He early acquired a taste for archeology and became an enthusiastic numismatist.

Ludlow devoted himself to the general practice of law for but a short time. He soon became counsel for a number of wealthy corporations, among others the important Dutch banking house of Crommelin & Company, whose American representative he was. This work, the settlement of many large estates, and the management of his own extensive property filled all his time. His legal activities were increasingly subordinated to his operations as a financier. One of his earliest enterprises was the promotion of the New York Life Insurance and Trust Company, of which he was a trustee from its organiwas appointed brigadier-general of volunteers, May 4, 1898, accompanied Shafter's V Corps to Santiago-de-Cuba, and commanded the 1st Brigade in the attack on El Caney and in the subsequent investment of the city of Santiago. For meritorious services in this campaign he received written commendation from both Generals Shafter and Lawton (official reports, War Department). On Sept. 7, 1898, he was commissioned major-general of volunteers, and on Dec. 13, following, was made military governor of Havana. On Jan. 21, 1900, he was commissioned brigadier-general in the regular army. In discontinuing the Department of Havana, May 1, 1900, the secretary of war expressed high appreciation of Ludlow's services while governor, in the maintenance of order, the administration of the city government, and in greatly improved sanitary conditions in Havana. Early in 1900, he became president of the Army War College Board, and during the summer of that year, inspected the French and German military systems and methods of training. This duty completed, he was ordered, April–May 1901, to active duty in the Philippines, then in a state of insurrection; was on sick leave of absence until Aug. 30 of that year; and on that date, his constitution weakened by arduous labor, much of it in the tropics, he died at his daughter's home, Convent Station, N. J. In the year 1866 Ludlow had been married to Genevieve Almira Sprigg, of St. Louis, who with a daughter and two grandsons survived him. He was interred at Islip with military honors, from Trinity Church, New York; later his ashes were removed to Arlington Cemetery. A brave soldier, he achieved notable success as engineer, governor, and commander.

LUDLOWE, ROGER [See LUDLOW, ROGER, ation (1830) until his death. For long years ie was a member of its committee on investnents and in later life was one of its vice-presilents. He was also a founder of the New York Life Insurance Company (1845). For some years he was a trustee and, at the time of his leath, vice-president of the National City Bank of New York. Like many other financiers of iis day he took a lively interest in the develop-nent of railroads as promising fields for the investment of capital. In 1849 he helped to incororate and to finance the Panama Railroad Comany; he became its first president and was for some years one of its directors. Before it was completed he and two of his associates in the enterprise, J. W. Alsop and William H. Aspinwall [q.v.], shared with others in the promoion of the Illinois Central Railroad. He was also connected at an early date with the Harlem Railroad. His interest in all these enterprises appears to have been limited to their financial operations.

Aristocrat that he was, Ludlow was none the ess a Jacksonian Democrat. Though on intinate terms with the leaders of his party, he reused to share in the conflicts of the political arena. He declined all political offices but, when iis friend, President Van Buren, needed an able and trustworthy representative to place treasury notes in Europe during the depression of 1837–39, Ludlow cheerfully accepted the commission, which he carried out successfully. To the majority of New Yorkers of the ante-bellum period he was quite as much a social leader as a financier. His urbanity and charm, his high family connections, and his wealth placed him in the highest rank of New York society. In the pages of Philip Hone one frequently sees him dining with the élite of the city and on occasions entertaining admirably at his country home near Yonkers. His wife, Frances W. Morris, whom ie married in 1828, died ten years before him. They had no children but adopted a son who was a namesake and distant relative of Ludlow. He lied at Yonkers.

[A manuscript sketch of his life by W. S. Gordon ias apparently served as a basis for later accounts, espeially that which appears in W. K. Ackerman, *Hist. Sketch of the Ill. LUDLOW, WILLIAM (Nov. 27, 1843–Aug. 30, 1901), soldier, engineer, was the son of Gen. William Handy Ludlow, who distinguished himself in the Civil War, and Frances Louise Nicoll, of Islip, Long Island, a descendant of the royal secretary of New York after its transfer from the Dutch. Born at Islip on the original Nicoll patent, the second child of a family of six children, William Ludlow received his early education at Burlington Academy, New Jersey, and the University of the City of New York (later New York University). In 1860 he entered the Military Academy at West Point, from which he graduated four years later. Plunged into the Civil War as chief engineer, XX Army Corps, he won the brevet of captain for gallant services in the battle of Peach Tree Creek, July 20, 1864. After participation in the siege and capture of Atlanta, and in General Sherman's campaigns, he was brevetted major, Dec. 21, 1864, for meritorious services in the Georgia campaign, and lieutenant-colonel, Mar. 13, 1865, for services in the Carolinas—a brilliant record for an officer less than a year out of the Military Academy. He was commissioned captain of engineers, Mar. 7, 1867, and became assistant to the chief of engineers until Nov. 10, 1872. During these years he was stationed at Staten Island and Charleston, S. C. From 1872 until May 1876 he served as chief engineer, Department of Dakota. During this period he made valuable surveys of the Yellowstone National Park (1873 and 1875), and of the Black Hills country (1874). His prophecy (report of Mar. 1, 1876) that the National Park would some day be thronged with visitors from all parts of the world has approached fulfilment.

Ludlow was on duty in Philadelphia from 1876 to 1882 in connection with river and harbor work, then served as engineer secretary of the Light House Board at Washington until March 1883, and was chief engineer of the Philadelphia water department from 1883 to 1886. In the last-named duty he reorganized and rejuvenated the city water system, which had fallen into a deplorable state of inefficiency. He was promoted major of engineers, June 30, 1882. On Apr. 1, 1886, he was appointed by the President engineer commissioner of the District of Columbia and was responsible for many improvements in the capital city. He was on several engineering duties from 1883 to 1893 and was military attaché at London from 1893 to 1896. He made a thorough inspection of the deep-water canals of Suez, Kiel, Corinth, and of those in Holland, and served from April to November 1895 as chairman of the Nicaragua Canal Board. He was promoted lieutenant-colonel of engineers, Aug. 13, 1895, and on Feb. 23, 1897, was placed in charge of river and harbor improvements in New York Harbor. His recommendations that the East River channel be deepened have since been carried out.

My Dear Dr. Coddington,

I have your favor, Nov. 26, and am very glad to give you what information I can, and will begin by calling attention to the enclosed "tree" of the family, from William Ludlam, who came over from Matlock, England, and settled at Southampton, Long Island along with his brother Anthony. There was no brother Obadiah that I have been able to find. In fact I never found but one reference to him and that was in a genealogy of the Ludlam family by Julia Parrish Ludlam, who was apparantly of the same branch as the Kennedy Ludlams, and who probably got the idea from her book. Had there been such an Obadiah, he would have been born early in the seventeenth century, where as the Obadiah mentioned in Littell's Passaic Valley Genealogies, came from Long Island to Westfield, New Jersey about 1730 and died in 1770, so that, had he been the same one, he would have been over one hundred fifty years old, running "Old Parr" quite a race for longevity.

This original William Ludlam had four sons, of whom the eldest, William changed his name to Ludlum and I believe every Ludlum in the country is descended from him, as I have found the name no-where else. He had three sons, John, Joseph and William, who were large land owners around Jamaica, Long Island. And here is where something strange comes in. The descendants of John are all known and most of them still live around Jamaica, in New York City, etc. and all are still Ludlums, but the descendants of Joseph and William have disappeared from the records of Jamaica, and there are no records as to what became of their lands. There are, however, references in the "Town Records of Jamaica" of a number of Ludlums, between 1700 and 1720, as witnessing deeds, serving in the militia, etc., and who it is known, were not sons of John, so they must have been sons of Joseph or William, but there seems to be no way of proving of which one. I found eight of them, as follows: Henry, William, Isaac, Samuel, Abraham, Joseph, Cornelius, Obadiah. Henry remained in Jamaica where he died, leaving no children, but apparently the others all left there, for I have found them all, apparently in other places, though I have not been able to prove that they are all the same ones.

For instance, a William and an Isaac Ludlum settled at Goshen, New York before 1720. A Samuel and an Abraham were in Morristown, New Jersey about 1730. A Joseph, a Cornelius and an Obadiah were in Westfield, New Jersey between 1720 and 1730. Of these, the descendants of William, Isaac and Cornelius have kept the name of Ludlum, while those of Samuel, Abraham and Joseph, and all those of Obadiah except your own line, have changed their names to Ludlow.

Now refering back to the "tree", you will note that either Joseph or William, had a son Obadiah, who had but one son, Obadiah Jr., who married Phoebe Marsh. They did better, having ten children in all, of whom six were sons: Jacob, Watson, Smith, Samuel, Joseph, Ezra. I have all the descendents of Jacob, Joseph and Ezra, and most of those of Smith. Watson died unmarried, and I have not located those of Samuel, if any. Obadiah and all his children, excepting Smith, changed their name to Ludlow. Of course Smith was your great, great grandfather, making us, as I figure it third cousins once removed. I am showing our two immediate families right down to the latest babies, but no others.

You will note, I have shown some of the descendents of the original William Ludlam's second son Henry. His grandson Jeremiah, moved to New Providence, New Jersey and changed his name to Ludlow. His younger son Cornelius, had three sons who moved to southwestern Ohio, one of them Israel, being one of the founders of Cincinnati. As that is your own stamping ground, you have probably wondered where these Ludlows came in.

Getting back to Smith Ludlum, I have most of the descendants of his sons Benjamin, Smith, Joseph and Hamilton, but still lack those of his sons Ephraim and Eliakim. Do you know anything about them? Shall be pleased to get any data.

With regard to the Coddington family, there is one genealogy at the Historical Society here, published by Rev. Herbert G. Coddington, Syracuse, New York in 1920, but it doesn't give the complete line. It starts with a John Coddington of Boston, who died in 1655. He had a son John, who had three sons, John, Benjamin and Joseph. Nothing is given on Joseph. John had three sons, John, Daniel and Richard, but there is no later data on them. Benjamin was very prolific, having twenty one children, of whom ten were sons: Benjamin, Thomas, Isaac, John, Ashur, Uzziah, Jotham, Reubin, Saba and David. The genealogy does not follow the lines of Benjamin, Thomas, John, Ashur, Saba and David, but does give complete lines of Isaac, Uzziah, Jotham and Reubin, right down to date of issue, so if you descend from one of these, I can give you full data. The second John, by the way, located at Woodbridge, New Jersey, and the Rev. Herbert speaks of that as the home of the family. If you will advise me what you know about your ancestors, I shall then be pleased to get busy at this end and see what I can find out.

Trusting to hear further from you, and with best wishes in our mutual research, I am

Yours sincerely,

James B. Ludlow

Dear Ms. Bucksborough:

In his book Colonial Families of Long Island N.Y. and Connecticut (Vol 4 pp 1893-1906) Herbert F. Seversmith has considerable information about William Ludlam. I have photocopied for you page 1898 because it gives information about his children.

A copy of this book is at the Western Reserve Historical

Dear Miss Phillips:

Thank you very much for your letter of December 31. I have written to Ida Ludlum, R R 1 Oregonia, Ohio, and hope she may have information concerning the Ludlum Family.

Possibly you may have information that would be helpful in tracing my Ludlum and Trovillo Ancestry.

I should like to learn the names of the parents of Benjamin and Margaret McCarter Ludlum, my great grandparents, and from where they came either from some other part of Ohio, or some other State. Letters that I have in my possession that were written to my mother from her grandfather, Benjamin Ludlum, were written from Morrow, Ohio . Would that be in Warren County?

Could you give me the name of the Historian of Hamilton County?

I should also like to learn from where my great grandfather, Jonathan Trovillo came to Ohio. According to the record I have he is buried in the South Lebanon Cemetery.

Any information you can give me about either of these two families will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely yoursm

Dear Mrs. Phillips:

Thank you so much for the information you sent me about the Ludlum and Trovillo families. I have learned that both families changed their names. Ludlum was changed from Ludlam, and Trovillo from Travilla and both families came from England. Tracing one's ancestry is interesting and fascinating. I appreciate your cooperativeness.

LUDLAM

FIRST AND SECOND LINES

11. MARY LUDLAM 1,821, 1,853
m. THOMAS SCUDDER
son of Thomas Scudder and Elizabeth (Lowers)

She was born probably at Matlock, Derbyshire, England about 1639.

Mary Ludlam was baptised in the parish church at Matlock 7 August, 1639.

She probably came in her father's family to New England about 1650, and removed to Southampton, New York in 1653. At the time her father William Ludlam made his will 27 April, 1665 she was already the wife of Thomas Scudder of Huntington, New York.

She was living at Huntington 22 October, 1691, when the will of Thomas Scudder was proved. The date of her death is not found, and no will or administration of her effects is of record. She was probably buried at Huntington.

Mary Ludlam married Thomas Scudder about 1660.

For their further record, see SCUDDER, First and Second Lines, ##1,820 and 1,852.

NOTES

George Rogers Howell states in his The Early History of Southampton, Long Island, with Genealogies, second edition, 1887, p. 339, in the part dealing with the descendants of the first William Ludlam in this country, that the latter had sons-in-law "Caleb Corwithy, Samuel King and Thomas Scudder, as by his will". Passing over other records for the moment, we turn next to the article entitled William Ludlam of Southampton, Long Island by Conklin Mann, and published in the American Genealogist, vol. XX, No. 1, pp. 8+. After referring to the foregoing statement of Mr. Howell as given above, Mr. Mann goes on to say on page 11:

> That statement (i. e. that Thomas Scudder among others was a son-in-law of William Ludlam) has been accepted as fact by many later writers. I have found nothing to support it, > a period of fifteen years. Certainly the will, a photostat copy of which is in the possession of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, gives it no support. Samuel King of Southold had a wife Frances who was of an age to fit among the children of William Ludlam. Unfortunately King, though he put down in his record book the date of his marriage and the death and age of his wife Frances, omitted her surname. The book yields no hint as to who she was. Thomas^2 Scudder of Huntington named a daughter Clemens in his will in 1699 (sic)* but there is far more evidence pointing to Scudder's wife as a daughter of John^1 Conklin of Southold than as a daughter of William Ludlam. As to Caleb Corwithy, I find no tie-in whatsoever. I am inclined to believe that Howell's statement was a slip on his part that once in print was not overtaken. If the case could be proved, I believe that the researches of the late Rufus King and the genealogists who were associated with him would have proved it during the many years in which they pursued their search. The best that Mr. King could do was to quote Howell.

This critique is entirely correct wherein it states that the will gives Mr. Howell's statement no support, even though the latter was quite specific as to the names of the sons-in-law, and as to the relationships. This is not an "ordinary slip of the pen" in our opinion (if it was one) but would appear to be the creation de novo of three sons-in-law with specific names, and accordingly we must ask ourselves what kind of man Mr. Howell was. He was a clergyman, Archivist of the State of New York for many years, and a Secretary of the Albany Institute. Our examination of his work shows that he was a man of thoroughly honest approach and of the highest probity, and whose errors (and he did indeed make errors, as do we all) are not found to be of this character.

In The Long Island Traveler (Long Island Historical Society) for June, 1898, the following editorial text appears:

> Among the original documents at the New York Surrogate's, is an almost illegible sheet containing the receipts for these bequests, signed by William Ludlam's three sons-in-law, Samuel King, Thomas Scudder and Caleb Carwithon, or Carwithy.

---

*Thomas Scudder's will was dated 7 December, 1686, proved 22 October, 1691. See Early Long Island Wills of Suffolk County, by William S. Pelletreau, 1897, pp. 46-49.

We regret that our review of published Conklin genealogical records do not permit us to come to a similar conclusion, irrespective of the information presented here.

A note in the Friday, 22 July, 1898 issue of The Traveler tells about the will of William Ludlam having been upon the first three pages missing from the New York Surrogate's record.

At the present time there are a few scattered records remaining at New York city and Arthur S. Wardwell has inspected these for the writer recently. We quote Mr. Wardwell's letter to us of 8 April, 1954:

> I went to look at the copies of the records of the first (wills) reported in N. Y. Volumes 1 and 2 are combined and indexed in one book.
> Page 1 as now numbered starts with something about the estate of Mary Gardiner. The old pages are given as being 3 to 8 and a statement that the earlier pages 1-2 are not in the old books of N. Y. C. records....
> I then went to the office of the Commissioner of Records .... I explained that I wanted to look at the index ... He (the official in charge) showed me a box of cards which were arranged alphabetically and I looked at Scudder and Ludlam,.and found that William Ludlam was in envelope 6 .... he took it (the envelope) out of a steel filing cabinet right there in that room. I found the following in it:-
>> One sheet of paper small size -, marked Papers relating to the will of William Ludlam.
>> ....
>> Then on three separate pieces of paper receipts to brother Henry Ludlam, signed by William Ludlam of Huntington, Anthony Ludlam of Southampton and Joseph Ludlam of Southampton.
>> The first two were dated 9 June, 1666, the other 8 June, 1666. The last two were signed by mark.
>> Each receipt had two witnesses: William^2 Ludlam was witness to signature of Anthony Ludlam .... John Howell witnessed the signature of Joseph Ludlam. Thomas Scudder witnessed the signature of Joseph Ludlam on June 8th,and the signature of William Ludlam on June 9th. I think this places him in Southampton on June 8th and 9th although his home was in Huntington.

And Caleb Carwithen (Carwithy) was also a witness to the quitclaim of William Ludlam to his brother Henry 9 June, 1666 as cited above (see NOTES under William Ludlam, antecedent generation).

From the foregoing the reader will observe that independently of Mr. Howell's statement there is testimony that there was a record of Thomas Scudder, Caleb Carwithy and Samuel King having been sons-in-law of the first William Ludlam. The reader will note further that proof still exists that Thomas Scudder and Caleb Carwithy were associated in a significant manner with the sons of the deceased William Ludlam. All of these, plus the fact that Thomas and Mary (Ludlam) Scudder had a daughter who was given the rare name of Clemence (for Mary Ludlam's mother, undoubtedly), point clearly to the correctness of Mr. Howell's statement.

But this is not all. In 1929 the writer began an earnest search in the original records in New York and on Long Island. In the summer of that year and inthe next year he examined numerous records, many of which he copied, some of which he did not. In the case of the latter it was anticipated that they could be secured conveniently at a later date. The records at the Hall of Records in New York city; the County Clerk's Office in Riverhead, New York and in several towns and historical libraries were examined. During that time the writer saw a copy of these three quitclaims from Caleb Carwithy, Samuel King and Thomas Scudder. They were brief and written in 17th century orthography, and were in a book of quitclaims and inventories about 8" x 10" in size, and Thomas Scudder's name was misspelled. Thomas Scudder acknowledged to have received on behalf of his wife Mary, all her right from the estate of her father William Ludlam, deceased. The writer believes that he saw this book either in the County Clerk's office at Riverhead, New York, or in a certain library. It is admitted with deep embarrassment that we do not remember with certainty where this record was observed. In the last ten years we have made several searches, and to no avail. It should be stated, however, that we have been told that it is known that records have disappeared from the office of the County Clerk at Riverhead.

So far as the writer is concerned, he knows that he has seen adequate proof that the wife of Thomas Scudder was the daughter of William Ludlam. At the same time it is to be borne in mind that Conklin Mann is a conscientious, thorough and conservative genealogist, whose researches in Long Island families have been very valuable; and nothing in our discussion should be interpreted as a criticism of his article on the descendants of the first William Ludlam in this country.

Mary Ludlam was the daughter of

12. WILLIAM LUDLAM 3,642, 3,706
m. CLEMENCE*

He was born about 1600-1605 at or near Matlock, Derbyshire.

The earliest known record of members of this family in North America is dated in July, 1648, when the two oldest children of this William Ludlam arrived in the ship Triall. This is known from depositions made by John Ludlam, grandson of this William Ludlam, in 1701/2. It is believed that William Ludlam, then a widower, emigrated to the North American colonies soon after his son John was buried at Matlock in 1650. His North American port of entry is not certainly known, but it may well have been Boston.

He removed to that part of the town of Southampton called Watermill, where he was evidently a newcomer in 1653. John Woodruff junior of Southampton on 18 October, 1653 sold 36 acres at the head of the mill pond to William Ludlam. At about the same time he made a contract to rebuild the mill, and to serve as the town's miller. The town meeting of Southampton agreed on 21 November, 1653 that if the miller "goes forward with his covenant" he shall have six men to help him. On 30 May, 1654 the town meeting discussed its covenant with him, and agreed "to stand by it to obtain sufficient grinding." Evidently the six men were to help in rebuilding the mill, but an agreement on the interpretation of the contract required two town meeting sessions. At a town meeting on 3 June, 1654 the town voted William Ludlam liberty to lower the mill, and reciprocally he engaged "to grind soe long as the mill will goe."

He shared in a division of lots in February, 165¾. On 4 February, 1655/6 he contributed a half bushel of wheat to Goodman Goldsmith because of the latter's loss by fire. Subsequently William Ludlam was sued by Thomas Pope on 5 March, 1659/60, allegedly for abusing Pope's servant and for "deficient grinding". He was a juror 30 April, 1660.

William Ludlam, junior on 3 July, 1660 was allowed to sign over to his father William Ludlam, the four acres that the town had granted to the former. The father acknowledged 7 February, 1661 that he had conveyed land to Christopher Foster which he had bought of Richard Smith.

William Ludlam died in the town of Southampton, New York in the spring of 1665, and was probably buried there. His will, dated 27 April, 1665 was proved in June, 1665; and was produced in court when the son Henry Ludlam qualified as executor. The latter was granted a quietus 5 October, 1666.

William Ludlam married about 1627 and probably at Matlock to Clemence, whose maiden name is unknown to us. She was buried at Matlock 21 August, 1646.

Issue:

1. William, born in or about 1628 at Matlock, Derbyshire, was living at Huntington, New York 13 June, 1667, but died shortly afterwards. He married Elizabeth Smith, born about 1636, living 24 May, 1703, daughter of John Smith, who after William Ludlam's death married Nehemiah Smith. Issue.
2. Grace, born in or about 1630 at Matlock, Derbyshire, came from England to New England with her brother William in 1648; married Caleb Carwithy of Southampton and Huntington, New York.
3. Anthony, born about 1631 at Matlock, Derbyshire, identified as the one who died at Mecox in the town of Southampton, New York 17 March, 1682. The gravestone is the oldest one standing in the town, and the inscription has been read that he was then 31. This is believed to be a misreading for 51 (see the American Genealogist, vol. 29, No. 2, p. 93, lines 28 ff.). The inventory of his estate was made 22 March, 1681/2. He married Sarah who after his death married in 1682 to Isaac Corey. Issue.
4. Henry, baptised in the parish church at Matlock, Derbyshire 15 April, 1638, died at Southampton, New York 25 October, 1691. He married a daughter (probably Jane), daughter of Edmund Shaw of Southampton, New York. Issue.
5. Mary, married Thomas Scudder. See page 1,893.
6. Frances, baptised in February, 1640/1 at Matlock, Derbyshire, m. Samuel King of Southampton, New York, son of William King.
7. John, baptism not reported, buried at Matlock 8 April, 1650.
8. Joseph, baptised at Matlock, Derbyshire 9 August, 1646; died at Oyster Bay, New York 16 March, 1698. He married Elizabeth, ancestry unknown, who died 22 August, 1723. Issue.

NOTES

Anthony J. Ludlam published his Genealogical Sketch of the Ludlam family in 1878. This dealt with those of the name who settled in Cape May county, New Jersey. Subsequently George R. Howell in 1887 published further information on the descendants of William Ludlam of Southampton, New York in The Early History of Southampton, Long Island, with Genealogies, second edition (1887), and this was followed by A genealogy of the descendants of William Ludlam, published in 1896 by Julia Parish Ludlam.

These pioneer works were followed by several magazine articles of a critical nature and they were uniformly well constructed. They include documents relating to the estate of William Ludlam published in The New York Genealogical and Biographical Record, vol. 15, p. 93, and vol. 47, p. 308; The Early Ludlam and Related Families of Oyster Bay, New York, by Clarence Almon Torrey, published in the American Genealogist, vol. XIV, No. 1, pp. 5+; William Ludlam of Southampton, Long Island, by Conklin Mann, in the American Genealogist, vol. XX, No. 1, pp. 88 ff; and William Ludlam of Southampton: Some new information, by Dr. Walter D. Ludlum, Sr., in the American Genealogist, vol. 29, No. 2, pp. 91 ff. Dr. Ludlum has also deposited in the East Hampton Free Library at East Hampton, New York, a MS entitled Descendants of Daniel Ludlam, 1766-1837.

The will of William Ludlam was the first one recorded in New York in Liber 1-2 and the official record is now lost. At one time the original will apparently was filed in the Hall of Records at New York city, New York, and a photostat was made many years ago; this is all that is left. The photostat is in the library of the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, and it follows:

> Aperil ye 27: 1665

shire, about 1575-1580.

He was juror at Courts held at Wirksworth 6 October, 1609, 27 April, 1610 and 8 October, 1611; juror at the Matlock Court Baron held at Wirksworth 1 September, 1614; at the View of Frank Pledge with Court Baron, 14 April, 1617, 2 May, 1622, and 27 April, 1626.

William Ludlam was listed among those who gave aid to His Majesty King Charles I in 1627 at Matlock, and for forty shillings.

In lay subsidies for Matlock, 29 March, 1626 and 7 October, 1628, he was listed for three pounds eight shillings in goods.

He, together with Anthony Senior and Anthony Cotterell took the inventory of the estate of Edmund Flint of Matlock, 24 February, 163½. A return for Matlock manor and parish in 1633 gives Anthony Bourne, Anthony Cotterell, Thomas Flynte, gentleman, William Ludlam, Anthony Woodward, Adam Woolley and William Woolley as the freeholders of Matlock. It is quite likely that William Ludlam was related to some of them.

He was buried at Matlock 29 January, 1659/60. The will (or administration) has not been searched for.

William Ludlam married Mary, maiden name unknown. She was buried at Matlock, Derbyshire 28 July, 1645.

Issue (at least):

1. William, married Clemence , See page 1,897.

NOTES

The foregoing information has been obtained chiefly from William Ludlam of Southampton: Some new information, by Dr. Walter D. Ludlam senior and published in The American Genealogist, vol. 29, beginning at page 91. It has been augmented by records appearing in The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 56, pp. 316 ff.; Matlock manor and parish, historical and descriptive, by Benjamin Brown, 1903, and other records as may be mentioned in passing.

In his article Dr. Ludlum gives entries in the Matlock parish register for those of the name recorded in the seventeenth century.

These include members of the family whose connections will have to be determined by recourse to an examination of wills; which is yet to be made. One of the sources of information which should be examined is the Consistory Court of the Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry. The Calendar (index) of Wills and Administrations in the Consistory Court of the Bishop of Lichfield and Coventry, 1516 to 1652 is published in The Index Library, W. P. W. Phillimore, editor, vol. 7, and includes the following:

We quote now some of the documentation which Dr. Walter D. Ludlum reported in his article in the American Genealogist, to show the holdings of William Ludlam in Matlock. In The New England Historical and Genealogical Register, vol. 56, p. 316,. William Ludlam is mentioned, as well as some of his undoubted kinsmen. We quote the abstract of the will of Edmund fflint of Matlock:

> The will of Edmund fflint of Matlock, co. Derby, yeoman, 27 March, 1628, probated 9 April, 1632. To be buried in the parish where it shall please God I shall depte this life. Dear Folks:

Since your visit on Aug. 31st to the New Providence Historical Society saltbox I have done little other than type data cards on the LUDLOW family....some 381 4x6 cards! I have these in alphabetical order so information extracted from the various sources can be checked against each other. If you wish the NPHS to lend these to you I shall mail them. However, if you wish to visit either our home or the saltbox and work on these, please let us know.

The sources for the data on the 4x6 cards follow:

Commemorative History of the Presbyterian Church in Westfield, New Jersey 1728 - 1928 by McKinney, Philhower, Kniffin

Lineal Ancestors of Captain James Cory and of His Descendants by Charles H. Cory; Vol. I Part 1

Family Records or Genealogies of the First Settlers of Passaic Valley (and Vicinity) Above Chatham by John Littell, 1852

The Cory Family by Harry Harmon Cory; July, 1941

Some deeds from Morris County Hall of Records - from my files. (These are those which involve members of DANIEL CORY's family)

New Jersey Archives-Abstract of Wills - 1814-1817

Pedigree Charts prepared by yourself.

Ludlow-Ross Genealogy by Catherine Bigham Brode, 1932 (LUDLOWs on pp. 25, 26, 27, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 45, 47, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 73, 77, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84)

The Genealogical Magazine of New Jersey-Vol. 19 No. 3 (p. 66) (p. 69) also Vol. 18, No. 1, page 1.

In addition to preparing the 381 4x6 data cards for NPHS I also prepared some 18 cards from your mother's wonderful book about the Connecticut Colony, the Elizabethtown Colony, about Indians, the Long Island Colony, Massachusetts Bay Colony, the Revolution and hair-raising stories about the westward migration. I loved that poem which Mrs. Brode included in the front of her book.

I promised you I would get information on the GUERIN family. I have listed the names of GUERENs or GUERINs whose names appear in our local telephone directory.

I telephoned a Mrs. Fred (Dorothy) Steuer of Long Hill, who is a DAR member, to ask her if she had or knew of a photo of the St. Joseph Villa house. She did not. I then called Gwendolyn Thomas but found that you had visited her. If I find a photo of this house as it was before alteration I shall copy it and send it along.

Dear Helen:

I was glad to get your letter about LUDLUM ancestry. I can help you by sharing the information I have gathered on the family. Mine comes from two sources: 1) The Warren County Museum and Historical Society, and 2) correspondence with A. Margaret Bowers in Wisconsin.

I am sending you copies of what I have. The Museum materials were sent to me with a hefty price tag of $10.00, so don't write for more information to them. I'm including all of my copies. On the wills abstracts for LUDLUMs, your Hamilton Ludlum is listed as a son of Smith Ludlum, as you suspected. If you want to get a photocopy of the will, you can write to the Probate Records Office, Warren County Courthouse, Lebanon, OH 45036 and get the price from them.

A. Margaret Bowers is an elderly lady who took about a year to answer my query to her, as she was preparing to go into a retirement home. Her long letter is enclosed for you. The information she has covers the immigrant Ludlums, and the Ohio Ludlums, but the middle part of the lineage is uncertain from her letter. Maybe you can figure out what she has written. It was from her letter that I got Smith Ludlum's father as Obediah Ludlum Jr. and his grandfather as Obediah (Senior). I haven't substantiated this from any other sources however. You might try writing to her -- I haven't written to her since Feb. 1982.

I would like for you to send me a copy of your Ludlum record of the immigrant families from Colonial Families of Long Island & Connecticut, Vol. IV, PP. 1893-1906. I have not seen it.

When I go to Ohio in August to visit my parents and attend a family reunion in Lebanon, I spend another day at the Historical Society and Courthouse doing my own research. The Historical Society has a lot of material that is well-organized, but they seem more interested in making money from their holdings rather than sharing their information. They have even raised their photocopying charge to 50¢ a page. That is one reason the Genealogical Society was formed separately -- their attitude is one of helpfulness and I have switched my membership support from the Historical Society to the Genealogical Society. The genealogical society's Resource Center will be open this Spring in a room of the Courthouse, so I am anxious to check out what they will have on my next visit to Lebanon. If you need any research done in Warren County; I'll be happy to help you with your research. I have been compiling my family history for about three years, and I have found it a very enjoyable hobby.

Sincerely,

Peggy Cramer

Dear Mrs. Cramer:

I feel terribly embarassed over not having answered your letter sooner but for one reason or another I just could not get at looking over my material. First my niece who was suffering from cancer of the stomach finally died July 8, 1982; My 99 year old sister had to be placed in the Methodist Health Center. She was so unhappy there I had to spend time with her there. On top of that I had my house up for sale and had to prepare for that. I finally moved into this Retirement Center the middle of August. I am still trying to find things. A few days ago I decided to let everything else go and try to look up the Ludlum ancestry. I did not mention I sold my home August 28, and my sister died the 3rd of November. I have been trying to recover both

Dear Mrs. Crane,

I feel terribly embarrassed over not having answered your letter sooner but for one reason or another I just couldn't get at doing any writing. Now I have just recovered from a miserable cold. I guess that completes my tale of woe.

My genealogical notes and material is assembled as far as Bowers, or Ludlum, but each folder needs to be sorted. I had planned to do that after I retired and lived here. So I have that ahead of me.

In going thru the Ludlum material I found your Joseph who was born December 9, 1838 In my notes the date of death is 1905, not 1883. 1905 may be wrong. He was the son of Benjamin Ludlum born July 29, 1792, and died July 14, 1881. He was married to Margaret Mc Carter March 14, 1815. She was born August 11, 1794 and died September 9, 1867. They had eleven children - as follows:

1. Smith 1815-1817 died in infancy
2. Cynthia Ann 1817 – m. Richard Ford
3. Benjamin 1815- 1819

A note I have states They had five children (4 sons, 1 daughter) I donat have their names.

Instead of Ludlum the spelling was originally Ludlam. The earliest of our ancestors who came to This country were William Ludlam, his wife, Clemence Fordham, sons William, Henry, Joseph, Anthony, brother Anthony and sister, Grace, landed at Boston from the "Good Ship Triall" July 1648 They came Matlock, Derbyshire, England. In 1653 they are on the roster at Southampton, L.I. Here William bought a waterpowered mill which descended by will thru four generations as did his great bible. William died in 1667 his will dated 1665-4-27 is Will #1, Book One in the N.Y. Surrogate's office. William fell heir to an estate in England and directed his oldest son William to press claim but William II was in failing health and died at about the time his father died.

In 1701 William II's oldest son John retained an attorney to press his claim to his grandfather's estate under the law of primogeniture, The attorney took the case for $\frac{1}{8}$ of the estate which must have been considerable to justify crossing the ocean in those days. John's subsequent prosperity seems to indicate that he won the case (N.Y. Historical Society Records). William II sent his sons, John, William and Joseph to school and the teacher wrote the name Ludlum and the spelling stuck. All the Ludlums in America doubtless descended from William II. The descends of William I's sons Henry and Anthony changed the name to Ludlow. "Brother" Anthony's descendants are Ludlams — his son founded Cape May, N.J. William II's wife, Elizabeth Cole (nee Coe) after his death married Nehemiah Smith and her son married Nehemiah's daughter — quite a mix-up. Elizabeth deeded real estate to each of her sons and they bought more. They all lived at Jamaica, L.I. John's descendants are well known but William III and Joseph left no wills naming their children, There are seven Ludlums of the

In 1961 William's [illegible] designated an attorney to press his claim to his grandfather's estate, which, by [illegible], the attorney took the case for ½ of the estate, which would have been enough to justify assuming the [illegible] in those days [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] that he won the case ([illegible] by [illegible]), William II sent his son, John, [illegible] to school and the [illegible] the same [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] descendants of Williams [illegible] as [illegible] the name William [illegible] descendants [illegible] [illegible] William's wife, Elizabeth Gale (nee) after his death married Colonel Smith and her son [illegible] Williams' [illegible] [illegible] Elizabeth [illegible] They [illegible] but [illegible] [illegible] These [illegible] of the next generation who moved from Jamaica, L.I. viz: William and Isaac who went to Goshen, N.Y. and are still Ludlums; Samuel and Abraham to Morristown, N.J. are Ludlows; Joseph, Cornelius and Obadiah to Westfield, N.J., Cornelius' desc. are Ludlums, Joseph's are Ludlows and Obadiah's are mixed. Obadiah had a daughter, Sarah, and a son Obadiah, Jr. Obadiah Jr. had 5 sons. He and four of his sons decided to change the name to Ludlow; his son Smith refused and in anger moved to Hopkinsville, Warren Co, Ohio and in 1809 bought 74 acres for $220. From the above the writer of this letter, which I have copied, was unable to determine which, William or Joseph, was the father of Obadiah. It must have been one of them as they were the only Ludlums other than John. As William III and Joseph died intestate their estates would be settled by the court of Jamaica, L.I. N.Y. where they (the heirs) lived would appear in these records. When Jamaica became a part of N.Y. City its court records were transferred to the State House at Albany. The writer was too near the end of life to make the investigation. His mother was Rebecca Ludlum and signed by Ulysses Lincoln Monce.

I hope you can make this all out and that you do not have it. I plan to get my material sorted and in order in a short time. If I can furnish you any other information do let me know. I collected this so long ago I had to work out who belonged to who. It makes me anxious to get at this material. I must get it done for my own family, now my sister's offspring who want it.

OBADIAH LUDLUM.

OBADIAH LUDLUM, and Sarah his wife, came from Long Island, and settled in Westfield, they had but one child that grew up to manhood, who was named Obadiah, who married Phebe Marsh, of Westfield, and had children:

3d Gen. 1. Jacob, who married Margaret Pool, of Elizabethtown, daughter of William Pool, and had children:

4th Gen. 1. Phebe, who married Jacob Woodruff.

2. Jacob married Miss Lydia Clark.

3. Caroline, who died unmarried.

4. John married Margaret Emerson, and had children:

5th, 1. Margaret, who married Isaac Scudder, son of Israel; 2. Sarah; 3. Gideon; 4. Mary Elizabeth.

3d Gen. 2. Sarah married David Crane, of Elizabethtown.

3. Watson, who went to the South, and died unmarried.

4. Samuel, who married —— ——.

5. Smith married Ruth Badgley.

6. Patty married Daniel Munson, of New York.

7. Betsey married Ebenezer Stevenson, of New York.

8. Joseph, born 17th December, 1779, married Betsey Morehouse, daughter of Simeon.

9. Joanna, born 26th September, 1781, married Daniel Cory, son of Elder Daniel Cory, of Long Hill. [See Cory.]

10. Ezra married Rachel Segoine, of New York, and lived and died there.

Obadiah Ludlum, Jun., died, and his widow married Elder Daniel Cory, of Long Hill.

The family now spell the name Ludlow.

From Littells First Settlers of Passaic Valley.

JOSEPH LUDLOW, (son of Obadiah Ludlum, Jun.) and Betsey Morehouse, lived on Stony Hill, he was an elder in the Presbyterian church there, and had children:

1. Aaron M., who married, 1st, Eliza DeHart; she died, and he married, 2d, Jane Osborn, daughter of John.

2. Ezra married Deborah Crane, daughter of John, of New Providence; 2d, Mary Crane, daughter of John Crane, of Newark.

Town Clerk
New Providence
New Jersey

Dear Sir:

I am seeking genealogical information pertaining to one branch of my family, the Ludlows.

Towards that end, would you please inform me if the Town records indicate the birth and parentage of the following named person:

Name: MATTHIAS *LUDLOW

Year: 1781

Parents: Obadiah and Phebe Marsh (???)

*NOTE: Prior to the year 1800 the family name was variously spelt LODLAM, LUDLAM and/or LUDLUM.

Any information which you might proffer will be greatly appreciated.

Cordially yours,

Paul C. Noone

Sir:

In reply to your letter of November 6, 1939, wherein you request information concerning Isaac Cushman, a pensioner of the Revolutionary War, Certificate No. 26314, Pennsylvania Agency, you are advised the records of this office show that the last payment of pension, covering the period from March 4, 1837 to September 4, 1837, was made on September 11, 1837, at the Pension Agency in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, to James McKean, as attorney for the pensioner.

On September 4, 1837, the pensioner certified that he had resided in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, for a period of fifty years, and previous thereto he had resided in New Jersey.

No further information has been found of record in this office.

Respectfully,
(signed) P. D. Fallon
Asst. Chief, Records Division.

THE NAME SQUIER given to the seventh child born to Isaac Cushman and Deborah (Frazee) Cushman, appears as a given name in the Isaac Cushman family, for the first time in Cushman record, that I find. It is accounted for in that Ephraim Frazee, father of Deborah Frazee Cushman, married for his third wife, about 1755 at Elizabethtown, New Jersey, Anna (Squier) Maxfield, widow of Samuel Maxfield and the daughter of Thomas Squier and Rachel (Ludlam) Squier, of Westfield, Essex County, New Jersey.

Thomas Squier, born in 1701, died February 14, 1778 in Westfield, New Jersey. He married, in 1739, Rachel Ludlam, born in 1707, died December, 1753. Thomas Squier was born in East Hampton, Long Island, and served as a Minute-Man in the Essex County, New Jersey, Militia during the American Revolution, although a very old man at that time.

Children:

David Squier.
